Rain brought few smiles to commuters yesterday. Not even pedestrians Lori Bowers, Page McGraw and Cindy Galli found solace in the drizzles. For drivers, autumn's first downpour was a disaster. See page 2.

Flyers tell teachers' woes

PLEASANTON — In a message to "taxpayers, voters and parents," the Amador Valley Teachers Association (AVTA) this week sent out copies of teachers' and administrators' salary schedules and cited recommendations the teachers' unit claims were "over-ruled."

AVTA represents teachers in the Pleasanton Joint School District. District contract negotiations were declared at an impasse earlier this month and the Educational Employment Relations Board (EERB) petitioned to assign a mediator. A John McCarthy was assigned and both sides were hopeful mediation could start today or by the first part of next week.

"Did you know that the teachers recommended against spending $125,000 this year for items we felt our district could not afford, such as conferences, travel, closed-circuit television, and teaching vice-principals?" questions the release from AVTA members.

AVTA claims the recommendations were over-ruled. "We believe the tax-paying public has a clear idea of which elements are most significant in the education of their children. Money spent on books and supplies, teachers' salaries, and the cost of administration should all be weighed with free access to information. Accordingly," states the flyer, "we are including teachers' and administrators' salary schedules."

The administrator salary schedules show the salary ranges for the positions of the director of research and development, Dr. David Carlisle ($22,855-$27,779 for 12 months service); high school principals ($22,855-$27,779 for 220 days); intermediate school principals ($21,766-$26,457 for 212 days); elementary school principals ($20,730-$25,198 for 207 days); high school assistant principals ($20,225-$24,583 for 203 days); coordinators — Regional Occupational Program, Vocational Education, etc. ($19,743-$23,998 for 203 days); intermediate vice principals ($18,803-$22,855 for 198 days); psychologists ($17,471-$21,236 for 192 days).

Salaries for the top four administrators in the district include Superintendent Bruce Newlin, $35,000; Assistant Superintendent for Personnel Carl Krause, $29,169; Assistant Superintendent for Instruction Neil Sweeney, $29,169; Assistant Superintendent for Business Doug Rose, $29,539.

Also attached is the 1975-76 administrative and specialist salary schedule which ranges from $16,639 to a high of $32,158.

There are 20 steps and five columns on the latter schedule.

The attached teacher salary schedule for 1975-76 ranges from an entry level salary (AB degree only) of $9,657 to $20,656, the top step in the column requiring an AB degree and 75 units of accepted college units.

As noted on the schedule, teachers are granted up to and including six years for past teaching experience and those possessing Masters receive $400 additional.

A comment also attached to the salary schedules claims, "It will be noted that the lowest step in the lowest range for administrators is greater than the average salary paid teachers."

Teachers and administration in the Pleasanton district are split principally over binding arbitration of grievances and salary.

"Our teachers had a right to expect a contract when they returned to school in September. It is a reasonable request to arrive at a fair resolution of the negotiations promptly, and we call on the school board and the administration to do so now," concludes the AVTA leaflet.

Fred Cochran, right, and Gil Maines discussed valley performing arts company formation with founding members Wednesday.

A theatre company is born

November 10, 1976 may someday be commemorated throughout this valley as the day "The Company" came into existence.

Dedicated to bringing the total spectrum of performing arts to valley patrons, the group has taken the name of "Valley Company of Performing Arts."

An initial organizational meeting, dealing with basic philosophies and organization structure, was held Wednesday night at the Pleasanton home of Gil and Pat Maines.

The company, as it hopes to be affectionately referred to, will encourage participation by performers and non-performers — anyone with an interest, whether it be in selling tickets, promoting a production, stagecraft, music, costumes and makeup, acting, directing, or serving in the theater guild.

Next step in the organizational process will come Wednesday, Dec.

1 when seven "founding directors" meet at the Pleasanton residence of Fred and Marie Cochran to complete formation of an executive board of directors.

This board would oversee all operations of "The Company," including prospective in-house groups such as a light opera company board, performers, facilities, publicity group, music-orchestra, costume and makeup, financial-legal and liaison to the Cultural Arts Council.

The organizational structure was drawn up by Mel Chew and received overwhelming support and commendation at the meeting Wednesday.

In tandem with formation of a 12-person executive board, the group will be working toward incorporation and solicitation of financial support.

Founding members tentatively decided to hold a "Come-join-The-Company - Extravaganza" in January.

Participation in and financial support of the valley-wide group would be encouraged at that event.

Chairing the meeting of the 10th was Fred Cochran.

Among those also present at initial "sounding board" meetings on Oct. 24 and the 10th were Marie Cochran, Gil and Pat Maines, Mel and Helen Chew, Larry and Diana Kaher, Barbara Aubuchon, Stacy Martindale, Carol Whelan, Lynne King, Bev Hamlin and Al Fischer.

Founding members present decided to concentrate on getting a precise philosophy agreed upon and the machinery set for completing the executive board.

Persons desirous of participating or supporting The Company in one phase or another may contact the Cochrans, Chews or Maines.

New area parks' design stalled

There are several new parklands in and near the Valley — but the public may not be using them for a long time.

East Bay Regional Park District officials currently have no plans to put so much as a parking lot into the sprawling Morgan Territory Regional Preserve, north of Livermore in Contra Costa County; or into the Rowell property, south of Livermore between Sunol and Del Valle.

Nor will Mission Peak lands, newly purchased, be developed in the next five years, according to the park district's forecast through 1981.

Park District administrator Jerry Kent said the forecast is only a document EBRPD works from, not a conclusive plan for the next five years. He noted that some of the parks not included in the forecast may be eligible for grants or state bond money.

Dr. Howard Cogswell of Hayward, who represents the Valley on the EBRPD board, criticized the district's policy of keeping huge spreads of land in "land bank" status for years. Director Mary Jeffers agreed.

EBRPD General Manager Richard Trudeau, noting their concern, said the long-range projections are "guesses on the part of the staff as to where they would like to see the money go" and that they change from year to year.

Del Valle Regional Park in Livermore was also not on the list of future capital improvement projects, but that was because some $2 million has just been spent on development there.

There is $30,000 budgeted for basic development at Camp Parks between Pleasanton and Dublin. EBRPD is currently negotiating for one or two acres of land off Tassajara Road to use as public access to the big grassland park. From 1978 to 1981, EBRPD has $20,000 a year budgeted for operation at the hilly grassland park.

Shadow Cliffs will see $200,000 of development in 1980, bringing the area behind the lake into recreational use. At Sunol Regional Wilderness, there will be new restrooms in the main use area, come 1979, at $25,000; and an additional $20,000 a year will go into their operations beginning in April, 1977.

Alameda Creek Quarries, a newly acquired water-oriented park in Fremont, will have $400,000 in Phase II development poured into it in 1979. The operations budget will be boosted by $15,000 a year till 1980, then $65,000 a year.

Delivery trucks will keep away

PLEASANTON — The big trucks won't roar too near the back fences of homes on Longspur Drive, thanks to a modification in the plans for Oak Tree Center approved by the planning commission Wednesday night.

Many residents attended the meeting, as they had in the past when the center was in its earlier stages of proposed drawings. This time there was a big difference in the drawings: a barrier will be constructed between the back of the proposed food market and an adjacent property which is zoned for public and institutional use.

The public - zoned land is adjacent to the homes' back yards and the residents felt that in earlier plans trucks easily could swing past their fences and through the public zone over to the back of a large supermarket and other stores planned for the center.

The planning commission took care of that by insisting that Beratlis build a wall between the public - zoned lot and the back of the stores.

The commission also wants a left turn lane installed on Hopyard Road. If that can be done, trucks can turn directly into the center and have a straight drive to the back of the stores.

Conversion

Dublin parents mail complaint

A Dublin couple with two children at Dublin Elementary School have sent a four-point letter to the Murray School District Board of Trustees opposing conversion of a school — "unless there is an adequate K-6 school to accommodate uprooted students in the same area."

Kathy and Robert Burden, in the letter dispatched Wednesday to trustees, also ask that the board not convert a school which has an existing Early Childhood Education program.

Last month, Murray board members unanimously approved converting of a school to seventh-eighth grade use.

The action came shortly after taking-up of a Citizens Advisory Committee report on organizational structure of schools in the district. The group culminated a five-month study by recommending conversion of Dublin School to seventh-eighth grade use. It is now a K-8 school and located on Vomic Road in Dublin.

Board members will resume deliberations on the report as part of Monday night's regular board meeting slated for Frederiksen School.

Current candidates for conversion are Dublin, Frederiksen, Fallon and Murray, though not necessarily in that order. Trustees have indicated that if a specific school is selected for conversion, the project would be completed in time for the 1977-78 school year.

Mr. and Mrs. Burden state in their letter, "Prior to your final decision, please consider these observations and recommendations."

They are as follows:

1) Do not convert a school unless there is an adequate K-6 school to accommodate uprooted students in the same area.

Young children should not be bussed as long as there are viable alternatives. Students in seventh-eighth grades will not have difficulty adjusting to new classmates as previous peers will accompany them. Seventh-eighth graders would not be diverted to three (3) different schools as would happen if Dublin Elementary were converted. Seventh-eighth grade students should be less prone (versus lower grade pupils) to forget items such as: lunches, permission slips, homework and money for various school functions. These items, often forgotten by younger students, would require transportation across town for delivery.

In these energy-conserving times, continue Mr. and Mrs. Burden, an automobile trip across town, by a parent or available neighbor with a car, is not economically sensible. Seventh-eighth students should be able to travel across town to visit "school" friends without relying upon parent transportation. We do not allow our kindergartener to venture more than one block without supervision.

2) If you, the school board, elect to convert a school which requires in excess of two (2) portable structures; this would not be an insurmountable disadvantage.

We (Murray School District) already own the portables. Expected declining enrollment would necessitate only a temporary requirement of the buildings. We are distressed that so many of our tax dollars are being spent for architectural fees, etc., for a proposed facility we (Murray district) do not need. If those monies had been used to improve existing facilities, conversion of a school would not be imminent.

3) Please do not discount a school (for conversion purposes) with enclosed corridors as an option.

There is considerable space between buildings at those schools. Seventh-eighth graders should have sufficient self-control to travel a hallway without causing undue hardship. If our children have not learned in seven years of formal education to walk quietly through an enclosed corridor, perhaps more attention should be focused on self-discipline.

4) Finally, do not convert a school which has an existing ECE program.

Please, do not tell parents their children will be forced, by your decision, to receive a lower quality of education. After all, if the ECE program does not raise the caliber of our students why is a school added to the program each year?

Also, take into consideration the fact that educators you might transfer from an existing ECE facility to a conventional school would be obligated to create an entirely new program for the following year(s). We feel this would be a disadvantage to their prospective students as these teachers would not be able to allow the children to progress at their individual levels.

Planners nix density cuts

PLEASANTON — The planning commission rejected a proposal to eliminate approximately 200 of 400 future apartment units on the east side of Vineyard Avenue Wednesday night.

The vote was 4-1, with Chairman Bob Butler the only dissenter. Butler thought the downzoning should be accomplished because there would be that much less aggravation of Vineyard Avenue's traffic problem when the vacant land develops.

Vineyard Avenue has 10,000 car trips a day and is the heaviest traveled collector street in the city.

Other commissioners felt that a downzoning would not help the traffic problem much. Real relief will come only when the city builds the Del Valle Parkway on the east bank of the Arroyo Del Valle, they said.

Commissioner Gregg Doherty said, "We can no longer take an ostrich in the sand view of the Del Valle Park-

Federal funds

PLEASANTON — A story in the Thursday issue of the The Times erred in two important details concerning an action of the city council taken Monday night.

While the council authorized the staff to apply for federal funds for downtown storm drain work and the Foothill Road reservoir, it did not ask the council to apply for funds for the Stoneridge Drive overcrossing or for two additions to city hall as our story claimed.

The Times regrets any inconvenience which the inaccuracies caused.

way. This approach (the suggested downzoning) is like putting a bandaid on the rear of an elephant to cure his cancer."

Commissioner Dave Shepherd was sympathetic to several small property owners along Vineyard who testified against the downzoning proposal.

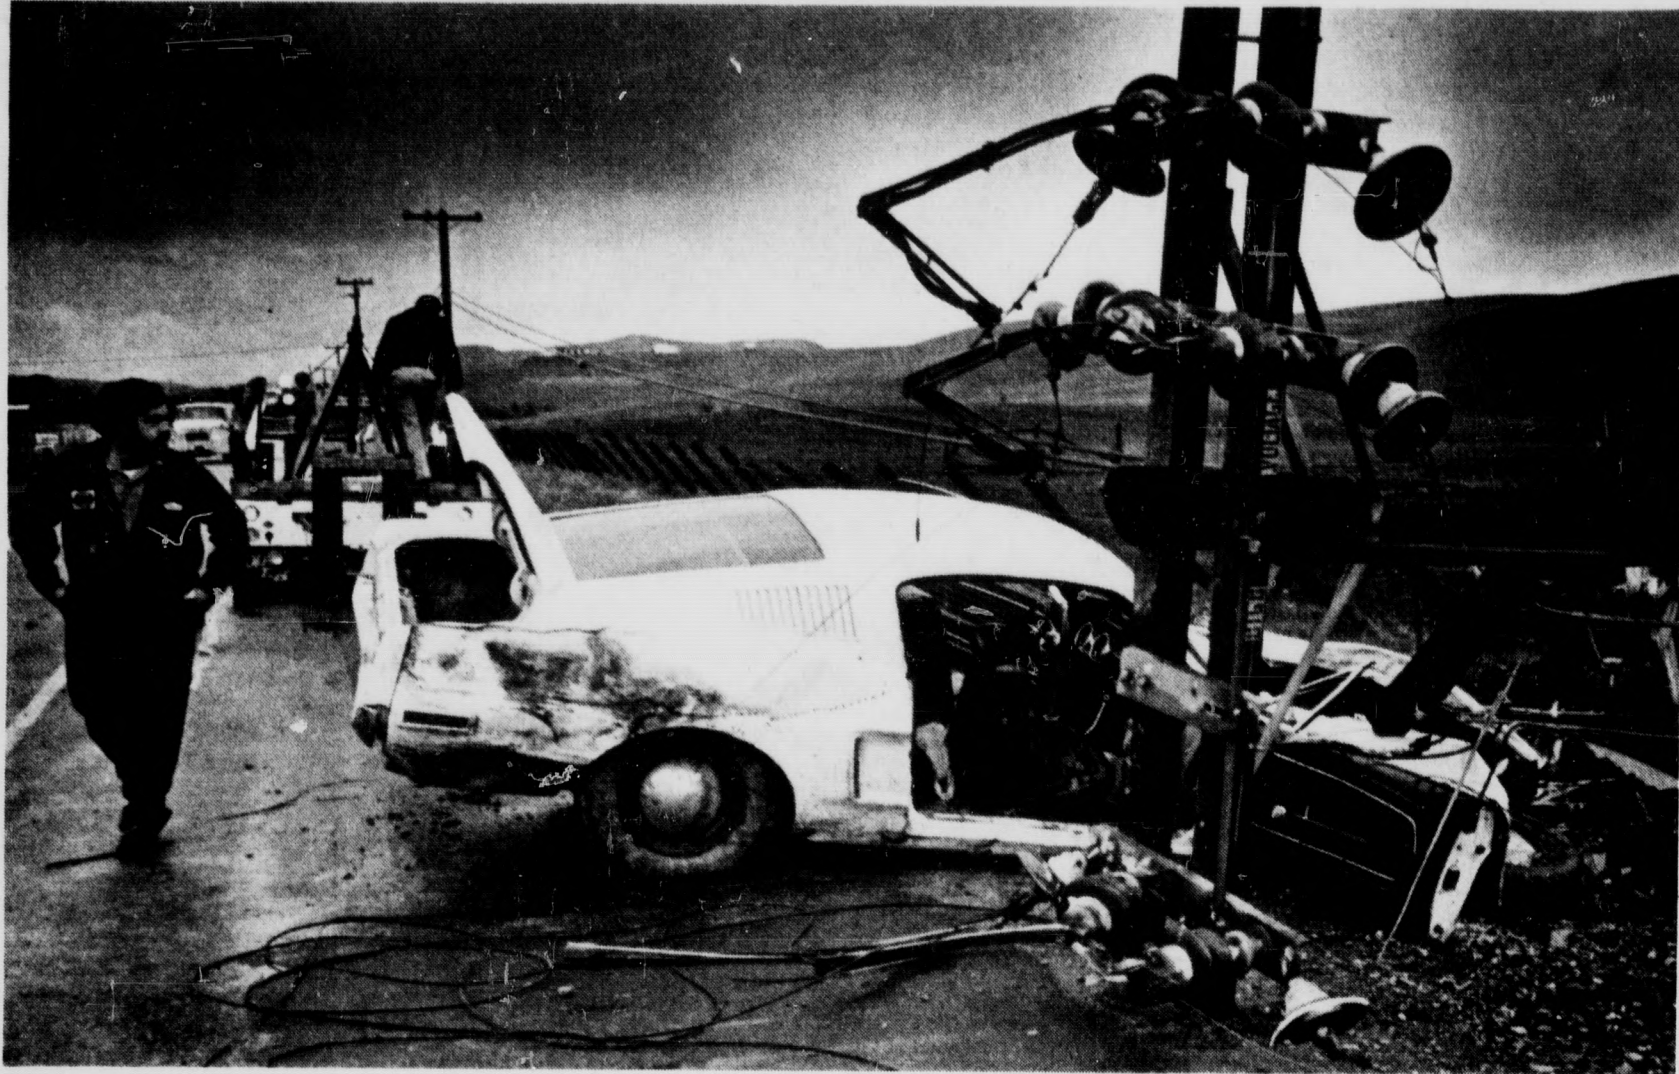

"I have mixed feelings about this. We need to solve the traffic problem, but rezoning it is not right. People on Vineyard Avenue have been led down the garden path. They were asked to pay into a sewer district and after the lines were installed and all nearby property built, they still cannot develop their property (because of the sewer freeze)."

Shepherd's words echoed the pleas of property owner Joe Madden who said that downzoning one whole large area between First Street, the arroyo and the city limits hurt the smaller property owners. If there is any rezoning, it should be done by looking at each property carefully, said Madden.

Dick Davis, speaking for a property owner on Vineyard Avenue, said the blanket density reduction would mean his friend's future fiveplex would be reduced to a threeplex. It was an obvious example of the problem of a blanket reduction in density and he wondered what the property owner would do with thousands of square feet of parking for a threeplex.

The planning commission's action was a review of a city council query about whether the area should be rezoned. The matter will go back to the city council for final resolution.

LAVWMA may again seek pipeline approval

PLEASANTON — A grim Livermore Amador Valley Water Management Agency (LAVWMA) last night elected to again ask voters in March to approve a duplicate of Measure U, the proposed $28 million waste water pipeline, if local councils agree to that proposal.

Board members bitterly attacked the opposition organized against Measure U, charging it used false statements in arguing its case.

LAVWMA member Ron Hyde wanted it on record that, if effective, the opposition cost valley residents $1 million due to the project delay. "That's on their shoulders not mine," said Hyde.

Representatives of the Regional Water Quality Control Board told LAVWMA members that the board would convene in a few days for enforcement measures against Livermore and Valley Community Services District for failure to stop dumping waste water into Alameda Creek, where it flows downstream and pollutes the underground water supplies for Fremont.

Possible enforcement measures include taking no action whatsoever, extending the dumping permit which expired Nov. 2, go to court seeking civil penalties, or eventual imposition of a building ban or a $10,000 a day fine.

A review of the vote showed that Livermore defeated the measure 59 to 41 per cent, as did VCS to a margin of 65 to 45 per cent. Pleasanton passed the measure 51 to 49 per cent, although some people registered in Pleasanton are served by the VCS.

Overall, Measure U lost

by approximately 3,500 votes out of 35,000 cast.

LAVWMA directors voted to spend up to $2,000 to survey voters on why they voted against the project.

Board chairman Robert Philcox said if reasons for its failure were discovered, proponents could address themselves to those issues and more effectively argue in its favor.

Agency attorney Ken Scheidig reminded board members that a ballot measure would have to be submitted no later than Dec. 10. He wondered whether a survey could be completed, interpreted and ruled on in that time.

Zone 7 director Richard Ryon rose in opposition to again asking voters to decide the same measure, asking that the board and its opponents get together and try to work out their differences. by Bill Caudle

Wet weather scenes

The first big rainfall of the season caused slippery roads that resulted in many fender-benders and caused at least one major accident in the Valley, police say.

The mercury dropped as clouds, fog and rain spread over much of the top half of the state early yesterday as hopes rose that rain was finally on the way after a long, dry summer.

California Highway Patrol officials warned motorists to use extra caution during the rainy season, as roadway oil is brought to the surface and dramatically decreases traction.

Valley Memorial Hospital's emergency room was filled with persons injured in accidents yesterday, unable to give an early accounting of the traffic toll.

The Weather Service said snow could be expected at around the 7000-foot level Friday in the Central Sierra and north to the Mount Shasta-Siskiyou area. Snow-starved winter resort operators were hoping for blizzards and more blizzards as the big Thanksgiving season approached, one of their biggest money-making holidays.

The moisture-bearing cold front was expected to move ashore, holding promise that the rain would continue.

Four young people were injured when the car in which they were riding on Tassajara Road went out of control and hit a power pole (top photo). Treated and released at Valley Memorial Hospital about 1:40 p.m. were Steven Matthews, 18; Mary Hancock, 15; Michael McInerney, 17, and Robert Walker, 16. All are Pleasanton residents. Earlier Thursday a truck jackknifed on Interstate 580 near Portola Avenue exit in Livermore and another accident occurred at Santa Rita Road and Moore Avenue, Pleasanton.

Defunct Tri-Valley Cab Co. settles with 3 ex-drivers

LIVERMORE — A cash settlement was reached late Wednesday between the Tri-Valley Cab Co. and four drivers over allegedly unfair labor practices regarding strike activities.

This follows a report that the company decided to close its doors after 21 months in operation because it is losing money. Directors refused to comment on those reports.

Four cab drivers staged a walk-out May 14 complaining of the car's allegedly poor and unsafe conditions. The cab company fired those workers and begin interviewing for new drivers the next business day.

Janet Menan, lead cab driver before the strike, complained to the National Labor Relations Board of the company's decision to fire them.

After conducting an investigation, the NLRB decided there was enough evidence to conclude the company had violated federal law and ordered a full hearing into the complaint.

A hearing was scheduled for yesterday to look into the complaint. Tri-Valley Cab Co. director Dave Rezendes had said he didn't feel the complaint was justified and stated he was "anxious" to get the hearing over with. "Obviously, we feel there are things that need clarification," he said earlier.

The hearing was cancelled, however, after the NLRB reported that both sides had agreed to an "out-of-court" settlement.

Menan said yesterday she received a check representing approximately two weeks back pay, plus reimbursement for leaving the job. Fellow drivers Pat Stone and Charlotte and Jack Yunker received cash reimbursements in different amounts, she said.

Tri-Valley Cab Co. officials declined to discuss terms of the settlement.

Christmas bazaar opens in Valley

With Christmas just around the corner, Valley residents in search of dazzling gifts can breathe a sigh of relief when they mark red stars by Nov. 12 and 13 on their calendars. A Christmas bazaar at the Livermore Recreation Center may well find just the right gifts for grandparents and kids alike in this annual non-profit event.

Sponsored jointly by the Livermore Area Recreation and Park District, the bazaar will open its doors from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday, and will run until 4 p.m. Saturday. Over 40 local clubs and organizations have created numerous handcrafted items, with all sale proceeds benefiting everything from student scholarships to medical research foundations.

Participating groups are: Livermore Senior Citizens Club; Rainbow Mothers Club; Twin Valley Assoc. for Retarded Children; Organic Gardeners; Livermore Women's Club; Laubach Literary Life Center; Engineers Wives; Livermore Play School; Daughters of the British Empire; National Association of Retired Federal Employees and the Starlight Club (Eastern Star).

Others involved in the bazaar are United Methodist Women; Tops Chapter 1185; Gamma Alpha Kappa; Holy Cross Lutheran Church; La Leche League; Rincon Avenue School PTA; PEO Sisterhood Chapter FX; Jaycee Wives; Native Daughters of the Golden West; First Baptist Church; American Business Women's Assoc.; Livermore Valley and Los Positas Chapters; St. Michael's Parents; Beth Temple and the Twin Valley Mothers of Twins.

Talented groups also include the Calvary Temple; Delta Zeta Kappa Chapter; Beta Sigma Phi; People's Church; Xi Theta Chapter; Beth Emek Sisterhood and the Heritage Guild.

New groups this year are the Amador Valley DeMolay Mothers Club; Valley Women's Club; Business and Professional Women's Club; Del Oro 4-H Club; First Christian Church; Twin Valley Medical Assistants Assoc. and the Livermore Sister City Organization.

CB rally plan is cancelled

DUBLIN — A citizens band radio rally, scheduled from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 20 at Dublin High School under the auspices of the Chabot College Office of Community Services, has been cancelled.

Shop for Christmas

The first community Christmas bazaar at Pleasanton will be hosted Saturday, Nov. 13 by the V.F.W. Auxiliary No. 6298 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Dozens of local organizations and individuals will offer handmade crafts, baked goods, and novelty items. Refreshments will be available.

Bicentennial crew honored

Bicentennial participants from throughout Alameda County will be feted by a gala Bicentennial Salute Nov. 13 at the Sequoyah Country Club in the Oakland hills.

Sponsored by the Alameda County Bicentennial Commission, the dinner-dance will include a prime rib dinner at 8 p.m., following a cocktail hour, and musical entertainment.

Among the Pleasanton recipients of certificates of recognition are Ken Mercer, Brad Hirst, Joyce Getty and Dagmar Fulton. Dublin honorees will include Judy Earl, Bob Elliott and Tanya Clark.

The country club is located at 4550 Heafey Rd. Reservations must be made through the County Bicentennial Office at 828-7576 or P.O. Box 2001, Dublin. Tickets are $7 per person.

Launch set Wednesday LLL reflector to explore space

LIVERMORE — An ultra-precise reflector system, machined and polished at the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory, will be included in a detection system to be fired into space on Wednesday.

The detection system is considered the most sensitive ever built to detect extreme ultraviolet radiation from dying stars and other exotic astrophysical phenomena.

A Nike-boosted Black Brant rocket will carry the unmanned space package 200 miles into space from the White Sands Missile Range in New Mexico around midnight Nov. 17. The package will be recovered the following morning in the New Mexico desert.

The experiment was designed by the Astronomy Department of the University of California at Berkeley, which last year made the first observations of extreme ultraviolet radiation from outside our solar system during the joint US-USSR Apollo-Soyuz manned space mission.

The Lab was included in the experiment due to its exceptional capabilities in tailoring unusual, high-precision equipment for research.

Extreme ultraviolet is more "energetic" than normal UV rays, but not as great as x-rays. It is believed to be emitted by dying stars such as white dwarfs, the coronae or haloes of ordinary stars such as the sun, and possibly by giant stars 10 times bigger than the sun.

Because certain gases absorb extreme UV, it was not clear before the Apollo-Soyuz observations that extreme UV could be detected at all from near the earth.

Wednesday's experiment will map variations in extreme UV radiations over a relatively large field of view. One goal will be to try to observe for the first time the coronae of stars other than our own sun, as well as to examine specific objects such as a white dwarf seen during last year's historic flight.

The precision of the LLL-built reflector system helps make the detector 100 to 1000 times more sensitive than any before it.

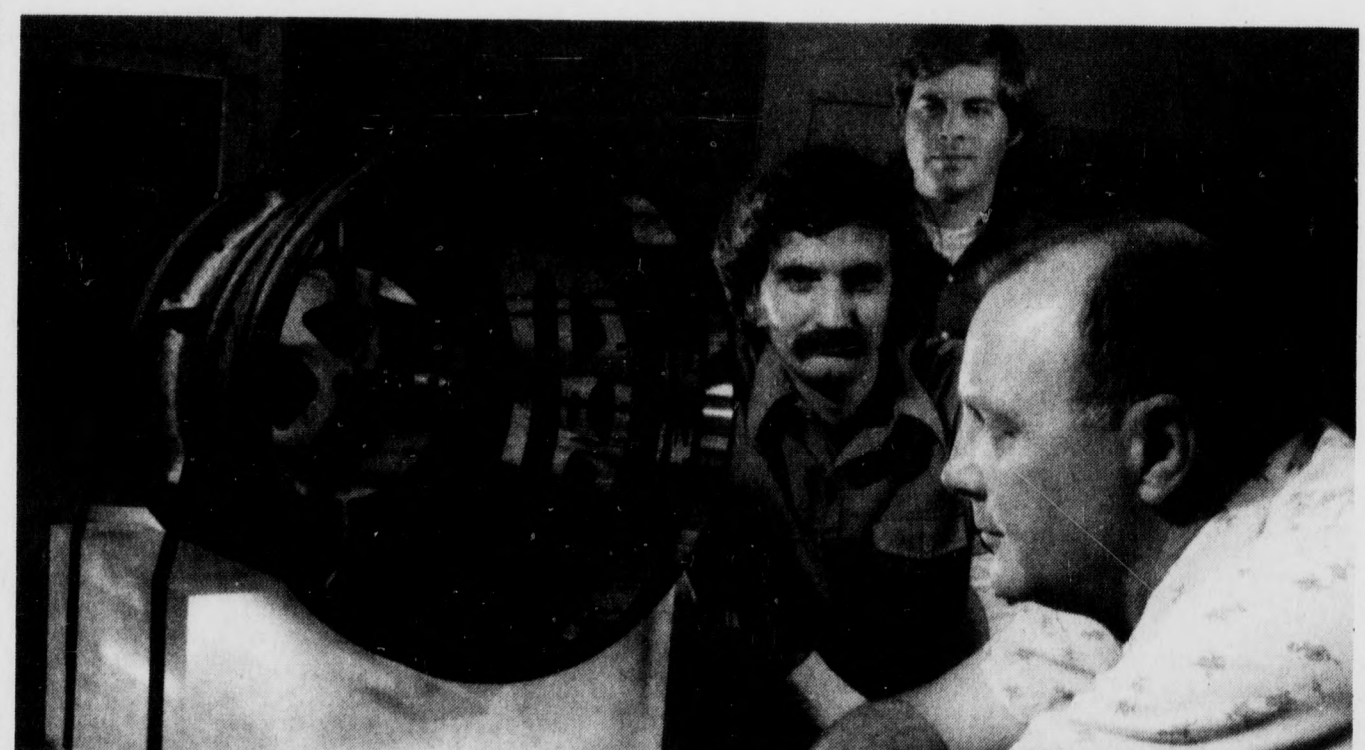

It is constructed in an intricately-designed "arm within a sleeve" configuration. An extreme UV ray entering the reflector with in 2 degrees of head-on will be reflected twice, grazing first off the sleeve, then off the arm into a detector.

Extreme UV radiation tends to penetrate surfaces, so only those rays that reach the walls at very slight angles will be properly reflected. The high precision machining and polishing jobs removed microscopic irregularities that would stop the rays. A gold coating, two - millionths of an inch thick, enhances reflectivity for UV radiation.

The reflector system was designed by Webster Cash, graduate student in physics at UC Berkeley. It was machined by the Lab's Metrology Group on a diamond-turning machine. Gold plating was done at Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory by Gordon Steers; optical polishing by Phillip C. Baker at LLL.

Principal investigator in the experiment is Prof. C. Stuart Bowyer of the Berkeley Astronomy Department.

Valley obituary

Richard Rodrigues

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. today for Richard M. Rodrigues who died Tuesday in his Colfax home.

Mr. Rodrigues, formerly of Pleasanton, was a member of the Eagle Lodge of Livermore.

He is survived by his wife Gladys of Colfax; son George Russell of Stockton; daughter Zora Burk of Hayward; sisters Roma Arbogast, Oakdale, Winnie Spindler, Hayward, and Emma Ghigliazza of San Francisco; and six grandchildren.

This morning's services will be held at the Graham-Hitch Mortuary, 675 St. John St., Pleasanton, followed by entombment in St. Augustine's Cemetery.

By A.J. FISHLEDER
Times Education Writer
SACRAMENTO — Area high school seniors and second, third and sixth graders continue to rank among the best students in California, results of state achievement tests show.

Pupils in the Walnut Creek, Orinda, Lafayette, Moraga, Acambago and San Ramon Valley school districts placed better than students in 90 per cent of the state's public school systems.

Following these districts, which have traditionally ranked near the top, are the Mt. Diablo, Martinez and neighboring Bencina school districts.

Farther down the achievement ladder was the Pittsburg Unified School District, although the performance ratings of Pittsburg seniors are currently being recalculated by the state.

First reports placed the Pittsburg seniors far above seniors in districts with similar background characteristics.

In all, 1.15 million state students were tested.

Second and third graders were tested on reading, while sixth and 12th graders received reading, written expression, spelling and mathematics tests.

While reading achievement scores for second and third graders have improved steadily since the first state tests in 1966, the rate of increase has leveled off in the past two years.

Virtually identical scores for 1974-75 and 1975-76 were recorded statewide, with Contra Costa students following suit.

California's second and third graders scored slightly above the national average for both grades, with Contra Costa's pupils generally well above the national averages.

"Improved scores for sixth graders in 1975-76 are particularly significant," said Wilson Riles, state superintendent of schools, "because they confirm the upward trends reported by test results in 1974-75. Between 1969-70 and 1973-74, a steady year - after - year decline had been reported."

Sixth graders improved in all areas tested — reading, written expression, spelling and mathematics. The improvement proved greatest in mathematics, 2.4 per cent. They showed the least gain in written expression, .9 per cent.

Because officials administered a new test package, the sixth-grade results are not comparable with national averages. Results released last year, however, showed that they ranked above the national average in reading, slightly below the average in mathematics and below in written expression.

Seniors experienced the greatest improvement in spelling, 2.7 per cent, and the least in reading, .6 per cent.

This was the first year of improvement by the state's 12th graders after five years of slipping scores. Despite the gain, they still rank below the national averages.

Last year, California's high school seniors dropped into the bottom third of the nation in language use, with about 70 to 75 per cent of the nation's students doing better.

They also lagged in reading and mathematics. Seniors are better this year in those subjects, but are still below national averages.

Children in the second and third grades showed strength in phonetic analysis, synonyms and comprehension — as they did last year, Riles said. But they remain weak in word meanings and the meanings of roots, prefixes and suffixes of words.

To remedy this, a state testing committee has recommended more emphasis on vocabulary skills.

Another committee studying reading results for sixth and 12th graders concluded that sixth graders need more work in most areas, including use of reference materials like a dictionary, and how to interpret, evaluate and make inferences based on information.

Sixth graders showed a large gain over 1974-75 results in the subjects of probability and statistics, but a state testing committee ruled that their performance was still "too low to be adequate."

Average district scores are shown in the accompanying charts. The figure represents the percentage of state school districts with scores lower than the district listed.

Good turn

On Saturday, Nov. 13, Cubs and Scouts throughout the Valley will distribute Good Turn Day Bags to their neighbors on behalf of the Salvation Army and Goodwill Industries. These large, colorfully printed bags can make Christmas merry for many people. By donating old toys, used clothing and other items, hundreds of handicapped persons will be employed to refurbish them for many more years of usefulness. The bags will be collected Nov. 20.

Chowchilla kidnap suspects will be tried in Alameda

MADERA (AP) — Alameda County has been chosen as the site of the Chowchilla mass kidnaping trial, a Superior Court judge here has ruled.

Judge Jack L. Hammerberg had received a list of acceptable sites from the Administrative Office of Courts in San Francisco and chose Alameda from among them.

The names of the other counties he could have selected were not released. Hammerberg was in session when his office released the news late Wednesday afternoon and he was not available to comment on the reasons behind his choice.

Last week Hammerberg ordered the trial out of Madera County, saying he wanted to avoid any possibility that the case might be prejudiced and overturned by appeal. He had read stacks of newspaper and magazine articles and radio scripts before ordering the trial to a county more metropolitan than this central California farming area.

Attorneys for the three young men accused of the kidnapings argued that the change of venue was necessary because everyone in the rural community had become emotionally involved in the case.

The defendants - Frederick Woods, 24, of Woodside; James Schoenfeld, 24, and his brother Richard, 22, both of Atherton have pleaded innocent to 27 counts of kidnaping and 18 of robbery involving personal items taken from the young victims and their bus driver.

The children and bus driver Ed Ray were kidnaped July 15 while en route home from summer school. After being driven around in two vans for several hours, they were locked in a moving van and buried at a rock quarry.

They dug their way out after 16 hours in the van and 27 hours in captivity.

Valley campus posts night, Saturday list

Schedules listing Chabot College Valley Campus winter quarter evening and Saturday classes are now available free at banks, savings and loan offices, libraries, beauty parlors, barbershops, and other locations in Dublin, Livermore and Pleasanton.

More than 100 evening classes are scheduled at Granada High School in Livermore, Amador Valley High in Pleasanton, and Dublin High School. In addition, 10 classes will be offered on Saturday mornings at Valley Campus.

Students may register by mail now by writing to the Valley Campus admissions office, 3033 Collier Canyon Road, Livermore 94550, and requesting a registration by mail packet. Completed registration by mail packets must be returned to Valley Campus by Dec. 10.

Late registration will be held from 6 to 9 p.m. Dec. 28 at Valley Campus for all Valley-area classes.

Tuition is free to California residents and enrollment is open to high school graduates or persons 18 and over who can benefit from instruction. Students must purchase their own books and supplies.

Counseling appointments are available in the evenings at Valley Campus Monday through Thursday from 6 until 10 p.m. and at the trailer location at Granada High School from 7 until 10 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday evenings.

Amador students shove off Tuesday

A three-hour cruise on San Francisco Bay is in store for the oceanology class at Amador Valley High School Tuesday, Nov. 16.

Under the guidance of instructor Eric Sensiba, students will travel to Redwood City and board a research vessel, "Inland Seas," and embark on a "discovery voyage" under the auspices of the Marine Ecological Institute.

Study of fishes, sea water chemistry, and marine geology are included in the day's program.

This will be the third year an Amador Valley High class has participated in this program subsidized in part by corporations around the bay.

Two students who are in the film production class will be taking a videotape of the trip.

Give and receive

Finishing touches for today's Christmas Bazaar decoration sale were made earlier this week by senior citizens in Livermore. Thelma Langley, left, proudly displays a wreath made from old computer cards. Some ladies diligently sewed colorful placemats and pot holders, while others combined thread and bright sequins to create sparkling star decorations. The two-day sale at the Recreation Center, Eighth and H streets, will continue through tomorrow and includes 39 local clubs and community groups which have been working since last year to accumulate hand-crafted items. These service organizations are raising money for student scholarships, tutoring services, medical research foundations, educational programs, and assistance to the aging, mentally retarded, or handicapped. Hours are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. today, and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Rec department's new name

PLEASANTON — People calling city hall for the recreation department should be advised its name has been changed to the Human Resources Department.

Park and recreation programs continue as previously, but a new dimension has been added. Dianne McKenna has been hired as the Human Resources Coordinator. She will assess social needs in the city and will act as advisor to the Human Services Commission which will be appointed soon by the city council.

McKenna's position is being funded by Alameda County and she will be attached to the city four days a week.

Robert Caporusso, formerly the Recreation Director, has a new title, Director of Human Resources. He will head both the recreation and human services programs.

The Human Services Commission and the new structure of the Human Resources Department is the result of the city's adoption of a social element in its general plan, as required by state law. Pleasanton was one of the first cities in the state to adopt a social element in its general plan.

For any other information, call the department, 846-3202, ext. 215.

Ridges open to city

Pleasanton officials are talking about whether it would be worthwhile for the city to acquire nearly 2,000 acres of open space on the Pleasanton Ridge. The area is located adjacent to the Santos Ranch Road which climbs the ridge from Foothill Road. Property owners stopped paying taxes on the land around 1970. Approximately $330,000 in back taxes to various agencies, notably Alameda County, have accumulated since then. The city could pay off the back taxes, annex the land and not face further taxation on it, and keep it for open space. However, the city would have to pay off bonds held on the land, thanks to an action in 1963 by the Pleasanton Township County Water District, which now is defunct. Those bonds would be paid off in 1983.

Land in question is near the lower right corner of the picture, adjacent to Santos Ranch Road, which climbs the ridge.

Sears opens next Thursday

PLEASANTON — Sears, Roebuck and Co. will open its new catalog sales and appliance store, located in the Mission Plaza Shopping Center, 1989 Santa Rita Road, Thursday, Nov. 18, 10 a.m., manager Frank Cannella announced.

During the grand opening celebration, the store will remain open until 9 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights.

Winnie-the-Pooh will be on hand to help civic dignitaries with ribbon-cutting ceremonies and will remain to great children.

The new 4,800 square foot facility will offer a broad assortment of retail merchandise and a complete catalog order service. Carpeting, bedding and children's bedroom furniture will be displayed along with major home appliances, vacuum cleaners, sewing machines, home entertainment and home improvement merchandise.

There will be a self-service catalog package pickup, eliminating customer waiting during peak selling hours. An Allstate Insurance Center will be located in the store.

Green thumb plea

Give me weeds or give me death

PLEASANTON — Architect Jack Bras tried to add "freedom of gardening" to the long list of American freedoms, but he failed to convince the planning commission Wednesday night.

Bras was shepherding an application for a computer firm through the planning commission's various boards and he took exception to one of the staff's conditions, namely, that the landowner will have to enter into an agreement with the city to maintain the landscaping properly. What's worse, said Bras, is that the agreement will have to be recorded on the land's title.

"If that's a policy, where was the input from the public when it was made," said Bras. "It's a violation of rights. It should be consistent, if you are going to have it. It should be required of all, residential property as well as commercial. Would each of you as property owners be willing to sign an agreement like this?"

"I would defend your right to keep your landscaping up and I'll defend to the death your right to keep it messy," said Bras, in parody of some famous character in history who was exercised about free speech, not free gardening.

Deputy City Attorney Harvey Levine said that indeed the requirement is discriminatory. The landscaping agreement is recorded on the title so that a future property owner who lets landscaping run down won't be able to plead ignorance as an excuse.

Bras thought that the majority should not be restricted for what "one or two bad apples" will do. Planning Commissioner Walt Wood said that "it might be an infringement on an individual, but you have to look at the good of the whole town."

The commission unanimously approved the plans for the computer firm, including the landscaping requirement. The company will be housed in a cedar and redwood building near Sunol Boulevard and Mission Drive.

Planning Director Robert Harris emphasized the importance of the new firm. It is the first to be located in a small industrial area there and a high quality design is important to set the tone of the vicinity so others may follow the example, said Harris.

Pleasanton attorney's new post

PLEASANTON — City Attorney Ken Scheidig has been named regional vice-president of the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers.

He was selected at the western regional convention last month, nominated by the group's associate general counsel, Bill Rhyne. Scheidig replaces John Witt, San Diego's city attorney.

"I'm pleased they selected someone from a city the size of Pleasanton to replace Witt," Scheidig told The Times. He said his duties will involve establishing programs for the group in conjunction with other officers in California, Nevada and Oregon.

NIMLO is a national organization of city attorneys who exchange information on developments in the law.

Unpaid Loans

Consumer loans have become a troublesome economic problem, The Conference Board reports. The number of consumer loans which are delinquent for 30 days or more rose steadily between 1972 and 1975. Delinquency rates jumped from 1.7 per cent in early 1972 to 2.7 percent in 1975. While the rates declined slightly in the second half of last year, they are expected to remain a problem until the country's unemployment rate falls significantly.

Dr. Eliseo Sadorra

Christian
speaker

DUBLIN — Dr. Eliseo M. Sadorra, general superintendent of the Philippines General Council of the Assemblies of God (PGCAG), will be the special guest of Valley Christian Center on Sunday, Nov. 14 at 6 p.m. The service will be held at the Little Theatre, Dublin High School.

Dr. Sadorra is here on a three-month US-European tour and he is here primarily to study programs of church growth in America, and to share with American audiences what is happening in various Philippine churches.

As General Superintendent of the PGCAG, Dr. Sadorra recently launched a church growth program called "Each one - Win one." The program's goal is to double the membership of the eight Assemblies of God districts in the Philippines from 45,000 to 90,000 by 1980. Public is invited.

What is Baha'i?

LIVERMORE — On Nov. 12 the Baha'is of Livermore will join with millions of co-religionists around the world in observing the 159th anniversary of the birth of Baha'u'llah, prophet-founder of the Baha'i Faith.

The Baha'i Faith was first proclaimed in Persia in 1863. The founder, Baha'u'llah, whose family was of nobility, set forth a body of religious teachings designed to establish unity among the disparate elements of humanity.

The Baha'i Faith, in order to create unity, requires the elimination of all forms of prejudice, the equality of men and women, universal compulsory education, the creation of a world government, the selection of a universal auxiliary language, and harmony between science and religion.

Almost 60 per cent of the new enrollees in the Baha'i Faith in the United States have been between age 15 and 30. They've entered a religion prohibiting alcohol, narcotics and pre-marital sex.

Sharon Kingbury is surrounded by handcrafted gifts which will be sold at the Pleasanton Presbyterian Christmas auction and bazaar.

Presbyterian Christmas bazaar

PLEASANTON — On the weekend of Nov. 12 & 13, the United Presbyterian Community Church, 100 Neal St., will hold an auction and bazaar in their social hall. Funds raised by the event will be used to purchase much needed folding tables and chairs for use by the church.

On Friday, Nov. 12, from 7 to 11 p.m. there will be a silent auction of goods and services. A $1 admission will buy hors d'oeuvres and various unusual kinds of coffee, teas and punches during the evening. Services to be auctioned off include the use of a camper, cabin or boat for a weekend, and tennis or piano lessons. Baby sitting will be available with movies for the children at the church Christian Education building at 4300 Mirador Drive, a few blocks from the church.

The bazaar will be held on Saturday, Nov. 13 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. offering handicrafts, Christmas ornaments, sewn items, macrame and plants. Wooden things, toys and home-made foods will be on sale. Many gift choices.

Pic-A-Dilly going strong

Pic-A-Dilly, a fast-growing women's apparel store, has opened its fifth store at 7106 Dublin Blvd. across the street from MacDonald's. What makes Pic-A-Dilly so popular is their ability to sell women's name-brand fashions at 30 to 50 percent less. This is accomplished by buying clothes manufacturers have overproduced. They keep prices low because they are self-service and have no credit systems or fancy boutique atmosphere. New shipments of current fashions are delivered daily to keep the store stocked due to the high turnover of merchandise. The store is open seven days a week and is open evenings on Monday for shopping convenience.

Valley Plaza nears completion

Valley Plaza Shopping Center, at Valley Avenue and Santa Rita Road, will have the final phase of its seven-acre planned unit developed and available in March, 1977. The 21,600 square foot retail complex will have the unique feature of store fronts around the perimeter, complete with covered walkway. Present at recent groundbreaking ceremonies were Merle Telford, president of the Chamber of Commerce, Pleasanton Mayor Robert Philcox, Julie Hemming, Maid of Pleasanton, architect Jack Bras, and Jerry Lemm from Valley Realty. For leasing information, call Jerry at 828-6555.

Escrow group meets

The Alameda County Escrow Association will hold its regular monthly meeting Wednesday, Nov. 17 at Jake's Lion in San Leandro.

Speaker Jim Hillman, attorney at law, will speak on "Contract of Sale — Should We or Shouldn't We?"

No-host cocktail hour will begin at 6:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 7:30. For more information, call Joan Viotor at 791-1774.

New officers elected

New officers have been elected to the Livermore-Amador Valley Bar Association for the group's next fiscal year.

LAVBA President is Ron Hyde of Dublin, also a director on the Valley Community Services District and member of the Livermore-Amador Valley Water Management Agency.

The new vice president is Hugh Walker of Pleasanton. Earl Odell of Livermore was elected secretary, and Joe Devane of Dublin treasurer.

United California Brokers grows

Ten times the staff and 20 times the sales volume in just one year is the growth history of United California Brokers, located in Danville, Dublin and Livermore.

Announcing what he described as a very gratifying achievement in a period of business recession, realtor Leon Gartung attributed their success to professionalism of the three partners and 30 agents of United California Brokers' staff.

The three principals, Leon Gartung, Bruce A. McGagin and Herb Singleton, have varied backgrounds that qualify them for today's computer oriented business world. McGagin spent ten years as a systems analyst in the data processing department of Pacific Telephone, and holds a degree in Business Administration from Sacramento State.

Singleton, who has degrees in both Mechanical Engineering and Industrial Engineering from Oregon State University, worked with Continental Can Company as a plant manager for 14 years.

Gartung was formerly a scientific specialist with Lawrence Livermore Laboratory contractor EG & G of San Ramon. He holds

B.S. and M.S. degrees in Electronic Engineering.

Constant training, professionalism, and support of the sales staff are an integral part of United California Brokers. "The real estate business is a very competitive one," states Gartung. "It is necessary to have a great deal of strength in training and support for a new agent to excel. Part of our support can be seen in our profit sharing program. While our realtor associates are independent contractors, they can still share in the success of our company."

According to Bruce McGagin, the growth in use of computers within the industry has accounted for many of their sales. They are members of TAREX, a nationwide computerized relocation network. "Approximately one-half of people who relocate do so through a corporation. Our job is to work closely with the corporation in its relocation services."

In addition to TAREX, United California Brokers is a member of the Contra Costa Board of Realtors, the Southern Alameda County Board of Realtors, and the Multiple Listing Services of both organizations.

While working with corporations in relocation of employees and dealing with single family home buyers and sellers, United California Brokers also gives a great deal of attention to the investor. Approximately one-quarter of the brokers' clients are investors, most of them for the first time. In order to aid such investors, the brokers conduct investment seminars two times a month. They are the first major realty company in the San Ramon-Amador Valley area to provide a no-charge, no-obligation investment and financial planning service. Seminars are taught by experienced brokerage realtors who are top achievers in their fields.

"Really, our philosophy is service — to be outgoing and to secure lasting relationships," Gartung said. "We have a reputation for having top, professional quality agents who are highly respected. We offer many unique services now, and as we grow we want to offer more. This has been a very good year; we look for next year to top it."

Red Baron open

Steve Culler (seated), the manager of the Red Baron Restaurant in Livermore, joined the chain in 1974. He brought with him five years of restaurant experience, from dishwashing to cooking and operating a small dinner house of his own. Now that the Livermore Red Baron is open and operating, Steve would like Valley residents to come by and see him and his restaurant.

New realtors

Century 21, "Gaslamp Realtors" is growing. Located at 260 Main St. in Pleasanton, two new associate realtors, Joy Hay, (right), pictured with broker Merle Telford, and Jean Fehrmann (unavailable for picture), have joined the growing firm. They completed the Century 21 real estate courses enabling them to serve their clients in a professional and courteous manner.

REGUTEMP AUTOMATIC CLOCK THERMOSTATS

Both Regutemp models are designed to replace the most popular sizes and styles of central, low-voltage thermostats. They feature their own base plates or accessories which cover the area of the old unit, so there's no problems with old paint, wallpaper or holes showing. The Regutemp is designed for 24 volt thermostats commonly found in the home. It cannot be used with, and extreme care should be taken that it is not installed in a 110 volt system. Naturally, to be safe at all times, power should be shut off before attempting installation. You can easily program an automatic daily saving-adjustment for any interval from 4 to 20 hours, for any range of 0 to 40 degrees. The nickel-cadmium cell which runs the clock movements is automatically recharged by the existing thermostat power circuit, and is designed to deliver up to 10 years life under normal operating conditions. The cell is easily replaced by removing the cover of the Regutemp and simply slipping out the old, and inserting a new cell.

FILTER GARD™ CLOGGED FILTER INDICATOR

When your return air filter is dirty, it restricts proper air flow causing your blower fan to operate inefficiently. The FILTER GARD™ monitors air flow and its color indicator changes from green to red when the filter should be cleaned or replaced. This provides for YEAR AROUND SAVINGS on utility costs by maintaining the proper efficiency of your heating and air conditioning system. The unit requires no wiring and is designed for wall mounting or direct attachment to your return air grill.

Public flu clinic Sat. at VMH

LIVERMORE — A swine flu clinic for the general public will be held tomorrow at valley Memorial Hospital.

Sponsored by the Alameda County Health Department, the free immunizations will be given in the COVE building behind the hospital from 10 a.m. - 2 p.m.

Children with chronic diseases who received their first shot at the special clinic last month at VMH may receive their second inoculation.

Two different vaccines will be used. The monovalent vaccine for protection against swine flu will be given to most persons over 18. The bivalent vaccine protects against both swine and Victoria flu and will be given to those 60 and over, all persons with a chronic illness and all those who work in areas of public service.

According to the Health Department, people who are in constant contact with the public are now eligible to receive the bivalent vaccine. This includes teachers, hospital workers and sales clerks.

Children with a chronic illness between the ages of 3 and 17 who receive their first shot tomorrow will be offered a supplementary shot next month.

The inoculations are not recommended for anyone allergic to chickens, eggs, chicken feathers or chicken dander. Anyone with a fever should wait until his or her temperature is less than 100.

According to Gloria Taylor, director of the county swine flu program, it takes four weeks to build up complete immunity after a flu shot. The health department is expecting the flu season to begin in December.

Just how long the immunization clinics will be offered will depend on the number of people wanting the vaccine and the actual date of a possible swine flu season.

Swine flu is considered by most health officials to be more severe than the common varieties of flu.

Senior health fair

A senior citizens' health fair will be presented from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday at Kaiser Center, 300 Lakeside Drive, Oakland.

Many agencies will have displays at the fair, including the Geriatric Health Services, American Cancer Society, Over 60 Club, Visiting Nurses, and the Richmond Hypertension Clinic.

The displays will be in Mannings Restaurant in the Kaiser Center.

Trailblazers sought

Can you give a weekend of hard labor on "Project Skyline" to help create a Bay Area landmark?

Volunteers are needed to complete the dramatic East Bay Skyline National Recreation Trail, skimming the Pacific coastal range from Richmond to Castro Valley — some 27 miles.

Only pieces of about four miles remain in the mid-section of the Western "long walk" between Tilden and Redwood Regional Parks in the Berkeley-Oakland hills.

With 200 or more volunteers pitching in, the entire job can be done and the full 27-mile stretch opened this autumn, according to the East Bay Regional Park District and East Bay Trails Council, co-sponsors of the project.

The weekend set for the work is the Saturday and Sunday following Thanksgiving, Nov. 27-28. Food will be provided at the work sites, and volunteers able to work both days will make up an overnight encampment in Tilden Park.

The work will consist of brush clearing and tread construction, some gate and fence building and sign placement.

"In doing the work by hand, the naturalness of the trail will be preserved," says EBRPD trails coordinator Jana Olson.

In order to plan for food, tools and overnight space, those volunteering to help should contact PROJECT SKYLINE, East Bay Regional Park District, 11500 Skyline Blvd., Oakland, 94619, phone 531-9300, by Nov. 17.

Parks budget rose

Leshner News Bureau
OAKLAND — Claiming the district is in the best financial shape in its history, East Bay Regional General Manager Richard Trudeau now expects it to remain solvent through 1982.

That is when the district's tax rate uncomplicates itself and all tax revenue will go into one fund. Presently half the revenue must be spent for maintaining pre-1972 parks, eight cents more goes for buying new parks and two cents for their operation and maintenance.

The district's tax rate is 20 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

A mid-year budget review also shows that the two-county park district is running well in the black on its current $22.6 million budget.

"We're in the best financial condition we've been in 42 years. We've come a long way since the $3 million deficit of 1968. We're solvent now and we'll stay solvent, barring any catastrophes, through 1982," Trudeau said.

Earlier this year, Trudeau and other district officials were concerned that inflation and other factors might force the district into another deficit or borrowing.

While the district has gotten good prices on new lands the major costs come with developing them into parks and then maintaining them over the years, officials said.

The complicated tax structure caused many district officials to believe that maintenance and operating costs for new parks would outstrip available revenues.

Prepaid health — is it a bargain for the elderly?

Nine flu clinics this weekend

Leshar News Bureau
MARTINEZ — Nine mass flu clinics will be held this weekend at sites scattered in all areas of the county.

This weekend and next will be the last times mass swine flu clinics will be available to county residents between the ages of 18 and 60.

On Saturday clinics are scheduled between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. in Lafayette, Acalanes High School, 1200 Pleasant Hill Rd.; in Alamo, Alamo Womens Club, 1401 Danville Highway; in Pittsburg, County Health Building, 45 Civic Ave.; Richmond, Adams Jr. High School, Arlington Boulevard and Patterson.

On Sunday clinics will be held in Concord from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Ygnacio Valley High School, 755 Oak Grove Rd.; in Brentwood, 10 a.m. to noon at the Lions Club, 450 Walnut Blvd.; in Oakley, 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at Redman Hall, Highway 4; in Crockett, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Carquinez School, Pomona Street; and in North Richmond, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Verde School, 2000 Garamita.

During the final weekend flu shots will be available in Richmond, Martinez and Walnut Creek.

On Saturday, Nov. 20, shots will be given from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Richmond Auditorium, Civic Center and MacDonald and in Martinez from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Las Juntas School, 4105 Pacheco Blvd.

The final session of the mass clinics will be at the Kaiser Hospital on Sunday Nov. 21 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Walnut Creek at 1425 South Main St.

Clinics at a critical juncture

ATLANTA (AP) — About 10 per cent of the Americans targeted for swine flu inoculation have already received shots and the success or failure of the nationwide program will probably be determined in the next few weeks, a federal health official said today.

The immunization program, which started in early October, is intended to inoculate all Americans over the age of 18.

"The next several weeks are the critical ones," said Don Berreth, information officer for the federal Center for Disease Control, the U.S. Public Health Service agency administering the program.

The swine flu vaccine is "pretty generally available" at mass immunization clinics, and "it's probably easier to get the inoculations now than it has been or than it will be as the program is winding down in December," he said.

MARTINEZ — The big question in the county's new senior citizens prepaid health plan is how much will it cost the individual out of his own pocket.

Maybe quite a bit. Maybe nothing, according to Don Ludwig of the County Hospital staff.

The County Board of Supervisors have approved a pilot prepaid health contract with the federal government to cover senior citizens under Medicare, but implementation of the program is still months away.

Under prepaid health plans, the subscriber pays the same fee every month whether he receives thousands of dollars of health care or none at all. The federal government has agreed to pay a certain amount for every senior enrolled in the county program.

The Contra Costa plan is designed to fill a gap existing under present Medicare coverage.

Medicare, Ludwig said, is good in cases of catastrophic illnesses. The gap occurs because most seniors have continuing smaller problems which can cost a lot of money but which are not covered.

Most older people have problems with eyes and eyeglasses, with feet and teeth.

Medicare does not take care of these problems.

Medicare does not take care of routine physical examinations or tests connected with the examination such as x-rays.

The Social Security Administration has said the county can provide these services under the pilot prepaid health plan, but the federal government will not give the county extra money for performing these services.

So, who will?

Ludwig said there are several possibilities. First, there is the senior himself, who would pay an additional fee every month to County Hospital to get the coverage.

Then there is the state and the county.

There are 10,000 senior citizens out of a total of 50,000 in Contra Costa getting all their health care at County Hospital and county clinics through Medicare and Medi-Cal. Medi-Cal puts an eligibility restriction on its recipients. Not only can't you have very much income, you cannot have very much property.

Senior citizens reluctantly seek help from Medi-Cal because it could force them to pauperize themselves to become eligible. Yet the coverage is much better under Medi-Cal closing that Medicare gap and many seniors need the help.

Ludwig points out that the county taxpayer is picking up quite a bit of the Medicare tab as the program now operates.

The federal government pays a certain amount per hospital day. The payment is less than the actual cost. So the county is required to dip into its own general fund to make up the difference.

Then the federal government doesn't pay for the full hospital stay. There is that item called "the deductible." The customer has to pay the first hundred or so dollars. The amount of the deductible changes every year or so always with the result that the patient pays more dollars.

The county has to collect the "deductible" from the patient. In many cases the patient can't pay and the county has to eat its cost.

Ludwig said there are still hours of negotiation and hundreds of figures to be calculated. Hopefully, he concluded, the first senior citizen can be enrolled in January.

Wolves win spiker crown

San Ramon ended a year of frustration against Monte Vista and posted a clutch 15-9, 16-14 win over the Mustangs in the championship game of the East Bay Athletic League girls' volleyball championships last night in Dublin.

The Wolves climaxed a Cinderella season by whipping the team that kept them from taking the title outright one week earlier. The Wolves were hot off of Wednesday's win over Dublin, while the 'Stangs drew the bye in the playoffs and had not played since preventing Dublin from winning the EBAL title outright last Tuesday.

Kathleen Guthrie continued to baffle the opponents with her amazing serves while Debbie Lloyd provided the key spikes to propel San Ramon to the victory.

Guthrie, with the second game tied at 14-14, served the final two points while Lloyd added a spike on the 15th point. The winning point came when Monte Vista's spiker Karin Fischer slapped a set-up off the side court and out of bounds.

"They had the talent," commented SR coach Mary Ann Paz of her winning team, "It's just that Monte Vista's been such a powerhouse in volleyball all these years. I told them it was all mental."

"I have a lot of respect for Monte Vista. They're one of the best volleyball teams you'll see."

Monte Vista coach Nancy Eyller offered, "We never got started tonight. We still hope to have a North Coast at-large berth."

The Mustangs play in the Catholic Athletic League Tournament this weekend, which will go a long way towards deciding whether the 'Stangs will get the berth.

Nancy Kerlinger broke a 9-9 tie in the first game for the Wolves, serving two points for a 11-9 lead, prompting MV coach Eyller to call a time out.

Paz felt the momentum swept towards her team at that point. "Monte Vista's never called time out against us," she explained. The girl said "Hey look, they're worried!"

Upon rejoining play, the Wolves took complete control of the game and won the set on four straight serves points by Cooper, climaxed by Guthrie's menacing spike and the winning point.

After breaking the initial barrier against the 'Stangs, the Wolves decided Monte Vista wasn't that tough. Paz explained, "They came back after that first game and said, 'This is fun, We've going to do it again.'"

After San Ramon took a 5-1 lead to open up the second game the 'Stangs came back to tie it at 5-5. The teams played neck-and-neck until Monte Vista pulled out to a 14-11 lead. From there through, Kerlinger served for three points, tying the game at 14. After an exchange of volleys, Guthrie served the winning points.

Dunbar sees 'two' Chinas

That the People's Republic of China is a political enigma is reinforced by the recollections of Pleasanton's Diane Dunbar, who spent two weeks there with the United States gymnastics team, returning home this week.

On one hand, there was the same biased scoring that has come to be expected by American gymnasts in Eastern nations. But, on the other, there was noticeably more personal freedom than in most communist countries.

"It seemed like the people had more freedom," the 17-year old Foothill High School senior said. "My impression of Bulgaria (where she made an earlier tour), though was more like what we here about communism."

However, in the two dual meets between the American and Chinese national teams, the judges told the same old anti-West story.

"They won the first by less than a point," Dunbar recalled. "And the second was obviously unfair. After it was over, Fred Baer (director of the U.S. Gymnastics Federation) warned the judges that they wouldn't be accepted if they kept doing that."

Nonetheless, Diane sees tremendous potential in the Chinese athletes.

"They throw a lot of hard tricks, but they miss a lot of

Biletnikoff's a clutch receiver

Oakland Raider wide receiver Fred Biletnikoff hasn't made all of his 520 lifetime catches in key third - down situations ... it just seems that way.

"I wish I had very fast feet like Cliff Branch, says Biletnikoff, "but I don't. I'd be an idiot to ask Kenny Stabler, 'why don't you ever throw me the 70 - yard bomb like you do to Clifford?' I have more ability on third downs and this is why Kenny uses me more this way. I'm getting paid to make that kind of catch. That's my game."

Two weeks ago against Denver, Biletnikoff made one of his patented third - down grabs — this one for a touchdown. With the score tied 6-6 in the fourth quarter, Broncos' starting cornerback Calvin Jones was forced out with a knee injury and replaced by rookie Steve Foley. On the first play, Stabler threw to Biletnikoff in the end zone and the veteran receiver out - fished the rookie defender for the ball, and a 31 - yard score. The Raiders went on to win, 19-6, and increase their AFC Western Division lead to three games.

"We called that play before we noticed Jones was hurt," said Coach John Madden. "We like to go to Biletnikoff on that side because we've been successful there before. Stabler didn't intentionally pick on Foley."

Biletnikoff's 520 career receptions leave him one short of Bobby Mitchell, who's in sixth place on the all - time NFL receiving list. Washington's Charley Taylor is in the top spot with 635. That scoring play against Denver enabled Biletnikoff to become the ninth player to reach the 8,000 - yard plateau via receptions. It also was the 66th touchdown catch of his career, 11th among pass scoring leaders.

"As far as I'm concerned, he's the best receiver who's ever played the game," says Stabler. "Like a great pianist, Fred is tops in his field. He's a master. I look at him sometimes and wonder how he does the things that he does. He's always going to be where he's supposed to be, and no matter if it's a good or bad throw, he's going to come up with it."

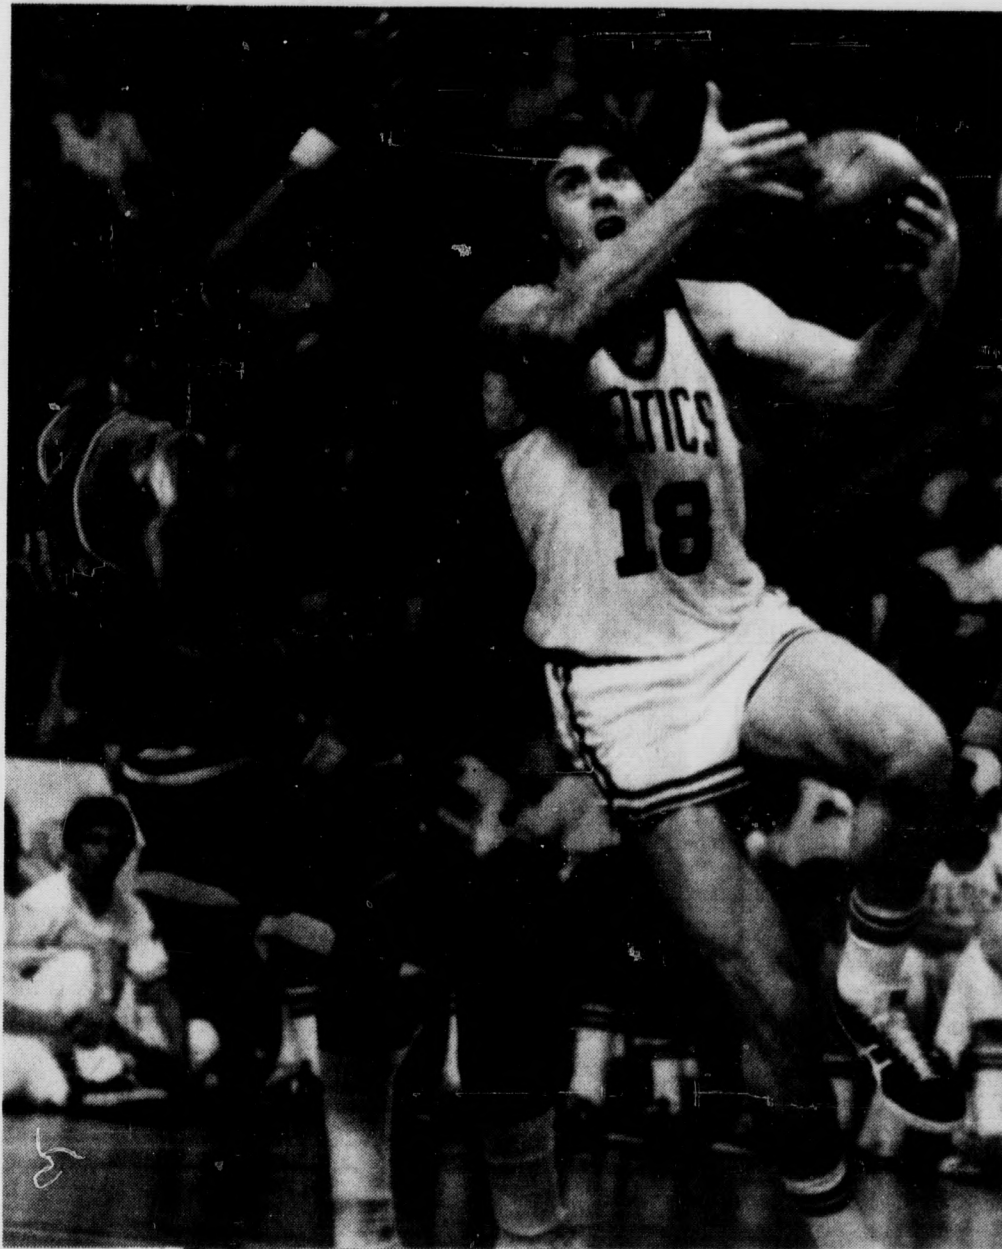

"We've been together so long that we know exactly what to expect from one another. I know where he's going to end up before he gets there, and he knows where I'm going to throw the ball almost before I do. Sometimes I'll let the ball go and start running upfield thinking of the next play before Fred even catches it. I see him coming off the break and the ball heading for him, and just know he's going to catch it."

Biletnikoff joined the Raiders in 1965 as a second - round draft choice from Florida State and has made at least 40 receptions during each of the last nine years. His 27 catches this season gives him a good shot to add to that streak.

"Anyone would be foolish to say he doesn't think at all about individual statistics," Biletnikoff says. "But I save most of it for the off - season. I knew I had 493 catches coming into this season, but if you start thinking about it that much you might start to press or think about some you should have caught. I don't go into a season with 40 or any other number as a goal. I strive for consistency. I think much of it has been staying in shape. Then there's the passing system here and the fact that I've played across the field from three of the greatest receivers in the game — Art Powell, Warren Wells, and Cliff Branch. Cliff's getting more pressure than ever before. I went through that some years, and it's rough to get open but it really helps you improve yourself."

The Raiders' passing game has been on target so far this season and has been the main factor in their 8-1 record. Stabler has connected on 139 of 212 passes for 2,004 yards, 18 touchdowns, 11 interceptions. His 102.8 pass rating is second only to Baltimore's Bert Jones (104.7). Tight end Dave Casper's 43 receptions lead the league and Branch has more yardage than any other NFL receiver, 845 yards on 31 catches. Overall, Oakland has scored 26 touchdowns, including 21 through the air.

"In the Raiders' offense the quarterback is always looking to see who is open," says Biletnikoff. "Sure he has a primary receiver, but if the primary receiver isn't open, we still have three or four other players who can catch the ball. That way, a defense can't concentrate on any one person."

Baker, Daley lead harriers

CONCORD — Mark Baker of San Ramon and Granada's two-sport star Arlene Daley lead the East Bay Athletic League's contingent expected to compete in the North Coast Section Central Area AAA cross-country championships at Mt. Diablo High School here Saturday morning.

Baker, who strode to a 14:48 clocking over the three - mile Lafayette Reservoir course in winning the EBAL boys varsity race, will be joined by Livermore's Rob Wentworth, just five seconds back, and Mark Kendall of Amador Valley as the top local competitors.

Daley, who faced a choice between the meet and the EBAL girls swimming meet, also tomorrow, was timed in 12:03 for the two - mile girls event. She's joined by Amador's Wendy Behrbaum and Patty Allen of Dublin.

Granada, which placed second to Tamalpais a year ago, returns three girls who placed in the top 25 a year ago, including 1975 EBAL champ Kathy Lyons. San Ramon will be the EBAL's best bet in the boys team standings.

The host school will send Greg Cross, the Diablo Valley Athletic League champ, while Pleasant Hill's Linda Robinson will head the list of DVAL girls.

From the Foothill Athletic League will come Gael Williams of Miramonte's league champs and Suzanne Blevins of Campolindo. Mark Conover of the five - time champion Matadors was just a second back of team mate Williams at the FAL championships at St. Mary's College.

Although times in cross-country, with its variety of courses, can be misleading, the Richmond - Berkeley league leaders come into the Central Area meet with impressive credentials.

Pineole Valley's Val Hoag took the RBAL boys race in 14:37 to shatter his fifth course record of the year while Laura Craig of Berkeley, the league's only complete girls team, toured the two - mile course in 11:46.

The meet will begin at 10 a.m.

Center trade? KC tops Warriors

OAKLAND — Going without a point for as long as a camel can survive without water, the Warriors extended their losing streak to four, dropping a 94-86 fiasco to the Kansas City Kings last night at the Coliseum Arena as 8,528 fans looked on in disgust.

Over a span of 6:38 in the third and fourth quarters, the Warriors failed to score. Both While that, surprisingly, left Golden State just two points down, it finished with just 11 points in the final quarter.

"We gotta keep working and working till we get it right," said coach Al Attles afterwards, revealing for the first time that the Warriors are indeed looking to trade one of their three centers-son.

"We're listening to all types of offers," Attles explained, widening specula-

No light thoughts in 'Poke camp

Hearing Livermore football coach Ron Berg speak of his team's upcoming EBAL title game with Granada, one can quickly dismiss thoughts of any complacency in the Cowboy camp.

Call it psychology, mind games, or mental warfare, but be assured the 'Pokes are taking nothing for granted against the defending EBAL champions.

"We play them one game at a time," Berg says, "and this is our biggest game of the year. I hope we can play the best game we will play all season."

"We'd be playing just as hard, even if it wasn't for the championship."

Livermore - Granada games used to be hapless encounters in Livermore's Stadium near the end of the season, and most of the time the 'Pokes would emerge winners by safe margins. Not lately.

Granada has won the last two games between the teams, by scores of 3-0 and 14-10. Both games were won under head coach Don Couch, who coached Livermore umpteen years ago before switching to the Mats in 1974.

Berg, meanwhile, was an assistant to former Livermore coach Tom Davis, before taking over the reins last year and leading the 'Pokes to a final title-deciding game with Granada.

He saw his young Livermore team blow a 10-0 halftime lead and give up the winning touchdown with less than two minutes to play. A sizeable portion of last year's Cowboy group will be in uniform tomorrow looking for sweet revenge.

Berg doesn't expect Granada to change their style of play just for the 'Pokes.

"You don't want to change something when it's been doing real good in the first place," Berg explains. "I expect them to do the same things they've been doing. That alone will be tough enough to stop."

The Livermore coach highly respects Granada's offensive unit. "You've gotta have respect for their whole backfield. (Vance) Rushing is one of the best backs in the league. (Steve) Robison can run and pass well. Kurt Honodel is a guy you just don't want to go to sleep on. They've got a great offensive line. Mike Nalty is a stud. (Brian) McSharry and (Rick) Bosch are good receivers. Their two line-backers are tough. Hey, they're good."

The Cowboys have a good week of practice, according to Berg, and the team morale has been excellent. Berg also feels the rain, although a physical factor, won't make much difference in the final score.

Livermore went 2-1 in pre-season, compared to 1-3 in last year's exhibition games, giving them the confidence to win their first games this year that they lacked last season.

Their only pre-season loss occurred in the finals seconds against Manteca, 14-13.

Quarterback Rick Gildea, who leads the EBAL in passing yardage, is probably the strangest of success stories. Gildea, playing behind Rich Palmer last year, threw only one pass in 1975, an interception.

Pat Powles, Steve Culy and Les Jacobs lead the ground attack, while Wade Andrade and a host of other Cowboys lead the number one EBAL defense.

In roundly defeating Monte Vista, 42-0, the 'Pokes moved into first both in offense and defense in the EBAL.

"Statistics don't always tell you the truth," Berg warned.

For Livermore's sake, numbers better tell it all. Here is the season to date for Livermore:

LIVERMORE 17, CASTRO VALLEY 12 — Livermore's first contest was a comedy of errors, fumbling three times and throwing an interception. But Powles' ran for TD's of 2 and 22 yards, while Charlie Bockover sliced 26 yard field goal for the win. Gildea completed four of nine passes for only 40 yards.

LIVERMORE 17, LINCOLN OF STOCKTON 5 — Tim Palmer's 70-yard interception return, coupled with another Bockover FG and Powles' 15-yard TD run highlighted the 'Pokes' narrow win. Palmer's theft came with only 5:32 to go in the game.

MANTECA 14, LIVERMORE 13 — Temporarily bursting the 'Pokes' bubble, Manteca's Garcia caught an 11-yard TD pass with :46 to go to give Manteca the win. Powles and Culy scored on runs of 18 and four, respectively, while Gildea passed for only 33 yards, still unable to find the groove. Confusion over a pass interference call and costly penalties and defensive lapses hurt the 'Pokes in this one.

LIVERMORE 21, FOOTHILL 12 — Cowboys fought off scrappy Falcons on Dave West's 60-yard catch of Rick Gildea's pass in the final quarter for TD. Powles and Gildea scored TD's on the ground, while defense held Falcons to 76 yards rushing.

LIVERMORE 21, CALIFORNIA 7 — Powles rushed for 146 yards and Gildea passed for 110 as 'Pokes survived Cal scare. Bob Tarte hauled in nine-yard scoring pass, while Gildea ran for a TD and West caught key 55-yard halfback option pass from Dan Davis to break game open.

SAN RAMON 34, LIVERMORE 23 — Cowboys blew 23-14 fourth quarter lead when SR's John Arnaudon hauled in three TD passes from Troy Thomas in one of the year's most exciting games. Bockover notched an EBAL record 47 yard FG, while Tarte caught two TD passes and Ed Moody another. Gildea hit on 18 of 29 passes for 202 yards, his best effort of the season.

AMADOR 20, LIVERMORE 7 — Livermore took a night off, allowing 161 yards rushing to the Dons as they posted the easy win. The defensive secondary allowed Amador's Pat Inglesby to throw two TD passes to Mike Goodison. Only 'Poke score came on Gildea's one-yard run. Gildea did throw for 115 yards.

LIVERMORE 47, DUBLIN 21 — EBAL title hopes re-ignited after this convincing win where everybody got in the act. Gildea passed for 133 yards and three TD's, Moody catching two scores and West another. Gildea, Lawson, Powles and Davis all ran for touchdowns as the defense held Jim Boulware and the Dublin offensive machine quiet.

LIVERMORE 42, MONTE VISTA 0 — The complete game, with the defense getting special honors. They held the 'Stangs to -57 yards rushing and only 44 yards passing, a total offensive output of -13 yards. Johnny Farfam returned a punt and interception for TD's while Tarte caught two passes for scores while Lawson and Moody also caught TD passes. Gildea threw for TD's of 12 and 145 yards.

Goodison, Flores switch spots

Injuries and illness have played a large part in Mike Goodison's football career at Amador Valley High School.

After making All-East Bay Athletic League as a running back in his sophomore year Goodison contacted mononucleosis last season as a junior and missed several games. This year he injured his ankle in the opener against Mission San Jose and missed three contests.

As a result of the ankle injury Goodison was switched from running back to wide receiver and defensive back. Junior Rob Flores took over Goodison's spot at running back.

How does Goodison feel about the change? "I love playing defensive back," he said yesterday as the Dons prepared for tonight's encounter with Dublin on the latters' field. "It's more of a challenge. You have to think all the time at cornerback. When you're a running back all you have to do is go for the holes."

Before the season started Goodison thought he would be carrying the ball around 25 times per game. The ankle injury destroyed his chances of that goal, however.

The ankle injury apparently hasn't affected Mike's performance as a wide receiver. The stocky athlete has caught 12 passes for 210 yards and has scored three touchdowns. He has averaged 17.5 yards per catch, third best in the EBAL. As a result, Amador has won its last three games and now stands 3-3 in EBAL play, the same as Dublin.

"You don't have as much pressure at wide receiver as you do at running back on offense," Goodison smiled. "But it's fun playing that position."

Flores, meanwhile, has done an outstanding job at running back. The 5-9, 165 pounder has rushed for 692 yards and six touchdowns in 101 attempts, third among EBAL rushers. Jim Boulware of Dublin is first and Granada's Vance Rushing second.

"You've got to give a lot of credit to our offensive line. They've done an excellent job," Flores said. "They've got size, experience and quickness this year."

"I like to carry the ball," he admitted. "I'm hoping to rush for around 200 yards against Dublin. "I think my speed (a 4.7 in the 40-yard dash) is my main asset."

Flores, who was switched from split end when Goodison got injured, plans to go on a weight-training program next summer.

"I hope to gain 10 or 15 pounds for next season," he went on. "We'll be using a training program that Arizona State uses and that should help out a lot."

Flores isn't the only top runner the Dons have. Another junior, Mike Hoff, has come on strong in recent weeks and has added balance to the Amador Valley attack.

"Mike has done a fine job and so have all the other players on our team," Don coach Fred Wood said. "I think one of the main reasons for our improvement in recent weeks is the fact we have several players who are going both ways. Originally we planned to have a two-platoon system but some of our players are really outstanding so they have been going both ways."

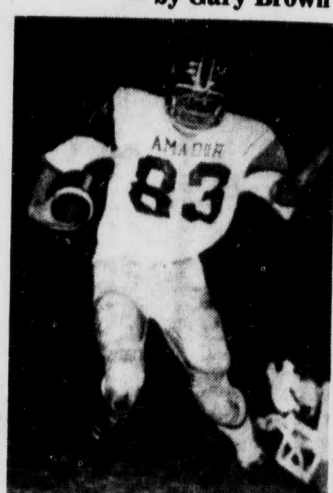

Wood is undecided on who his starting quarterback will be. Senior John Sevo started the season as the first-stringer but was hurt against Menlo-Atherton and only saw limited duty last week against California as the Dons won, 53-8. Junior Pat Inglesby has taken over and done a fine job, according to Wood.

"Inglesby stays in the pocket and throws very well," Wood said. "He may start the contest."

In other EBAL contests tonight winless California hosts Foothill at Monte Vista and San Ramon plays Monte Vista on the former's field.

Mum Mats eye second showdown

The calm before the storm? Let sleeping Cowboys lie? Conserving the psychological edge?

Whatever the reason, a tight-lipped Granada High School head coach Don Couch isn't saying much about Saturday's regionally broadcast (KKIQ-FM, 101.7, 12:45 p.m.) East Bay Athletic League football showdown with intra-city rival Livermore.

"We've just been working on basic stuff this week," said Couch before practice yesterday. Asked about the Matadors' poor performance against Foothill last week — when a dropped two-point conversion pass saved Granada from defeat, Couch said, "The problem was Foothill had a real fine football team."

Granada did have a bright spot in that one — running back Kurt Honodel, who stepped into the spotlight to gain 103 yards after Vance Rushing, previously the EBAL's leading rusher, was held to less than 10 yards in the first half.

But Couch won't say which back will draw the most work tomorrow.

"It depends on what Livermore gives Vance," he said. Vance will probably have to earn every yard as the 'Pokes roster sports four linemen who weigh more than 220 pounds: Tom Ricketts, 252; Gary Tennyson, 230, John Cole, 220, Wade Andrade, 250.

They've held EBAL foes to just 89.6 yards per game on the ground, far less than an average game for Rushing. With Vance leading the way, the Mats are second in the league in rushing with a 205 yard per game average.

While Granada has the league's two most accurate passers in Steve Robison and Bob Parness (63 and 62 per cent completions respectively) the Mats don't pass frequently enough to test Livermore's sixth-ranked secondary.

But going the other direction, the Mats have a problem.

Livermore's Rick Gildea is the only other plus-50 per cent passer in the league and has pitched 12 touchdown passes among his 736 yards. The chief recipients of his accuracy have been Dave West, Ed Moody and Bob Tarte.

In short, the Cowboys are the league's second best passing team while the Mats are the league's second worst at defending the pass.

On the ground, middle guard Mike Nalty and linebacker Larry Burke have made running up the middle hazardous to the health of opposing running backs while defensive end Jim Lennon, in particular, has halted the outside plays sent his way.

The offensive line, singled out by Couch as the Mats' weak spot during spring practice has turned out to be anything but. Tackles Mike Tearney and Jim Emig, along with guard Kevin Gosney and Nalty at center and Rick Bosch at tight end have loosened holes for the Granada option attack all season.

In 1974 Livermore missed three chances to score inside the Granada 20 and lost, 3-0, to a Mike Ramil field goal and last season, in a game just as important to the EBAL title chase as tomorrow's, the Cowboys led 10-0 with four minutes to go in the third quarter, but lost 14-0.

But Couch doesn't think his players will take Livermore lightly.

"Hell no," he said, adding sarcastically, "Yeah, we really kicked their butts...3-0 and 14-10. And, if you look back, Livermore's won eight of the 13 games we've played." Couch, of course, was on the other side of the field for many of those.

Whatever thoughts are going through the minds of Granada's 32 varsity players as they await tomorrow's 1 p.m. kick-off in Lehigh Stadium will be lost to posterity.

"I'd rather the players didn't talk for publication before the game," Couch requested.

Here's what the Matadors have accomplished week-by-week:

MATADORS 30, MARINA 7 — Couch got his first opening-game win as Granada rallied from a 7-2 halftime deficit ... Rushing gained 147 yards but the Mats gained only 32 yards passing ... Tearney scored on a safety and Gosney made a key interception ... Burke was in and out of the game with a cut and bleeding mouth.

MATADORS 20, WASHINGTON 17 — In a possible preview of the NCS play-offs, Rushing, ill with a flu, piled up another 144 yards ... Robison, taking more time, passed for 100 ... interceptions by Waldera and Rushing along with a sack by Nalty stifled a late-game rally by the Huskies ... Strickland rushed for 79 ... McGowan caught four for 104.

MATADORS 14, LIBERTY 9 — Rushing scored both touchdowns and gained 73 yards in a key fourth quarter drive ... McSharry made his eighth of nine PAT attempts.

SAN RAMON 14, GRANADA 13 — Astute scouted of the first half enabled the Wolves to fool the Mat defense for the winning TD ... Rushing still gained 173 yards in the Mats' only loss while Honodel had 45 ... Mat QB's passed for only a yard ... the Mats held the ball just 38 plays and made only five first downs.

MATADORS 42, AMADOR VALLEY 12 — A newly installed passing attack enabled Parness to pass for 76 yards and Robison 67 ... Rushing gained 132 yards while Robison read the defense for 59 yards off the veer ... McSharry caught six passes for 97 yards and Bosch two for 46.

GRANADA 21, DUBLIN 7 — Granada's defense, styling itself as the "Kryptonite Crew" held Dublin superback Jim Boulware to 78 yards ... Rushing gained 142 ... Hudson and Bosch came up with key blocks.

GRANADA 35, MONTE VISTA 6 — Though called for 100 yards in penalties the Mats amassed 363 yards total offense ... With Robison passing for a startling 165 yards Rushing was limited to 85 on the ground ... McSharry caught 89 yards worth of passes and Rushing 68 ... Larry Burke was outstanding on defense.

GRANADA 46, CALIFORNIA 25 — The Mats survived a early Grizzly explosion, trailing by as much as 19-7 ... Rushing gained 215 yards while Robison passed for 109 ... Wood, Burke, McSharry and Waldera intercepted passes ... Waldera caught TD passes of 26 and 46 yards.

GRANADA 14, FOOTHILL 13 — Foothill's defense keyed on Rushing and deprived him of the EBAL rushing lead by holding him to 49 yards ... Honodel filled in the gap picking up 103 ... only a dropped conversion pass by Foothill's Dean saved the Mats from defeat ... Granada did not complete a pass.

Chuck Gurney returns, competes in San Jose

Chuck Gurney of Livermore returns to Northern California after winning his first USAC Sprint - Car race at Terre Haute, Ind., to compete in J. C. Agajanian's USAC National Championship sprint - car races at the San Jose Speedway on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 21st at 2:30 p.m.

The race will mark the first appearance of the USAC sprinters on the high - banked 1/4rd-mile paved San Jose oval, where they will battle for $7,500 in prize money in the seven - event racing program, topped by a 40 - lap main event.

Gurney will be behind the same Siebert Oldsmobile Co. special that he drove to victory at Terre Haute in the final midwestern USAC race of the year. The 27 - year - old second - generation driver is currently ranked seventh in USAC Sprint - Car points and could move up as high as second in the final standings if he keeps his win streak alive in the four USAC sprint races on the West Coast this month.

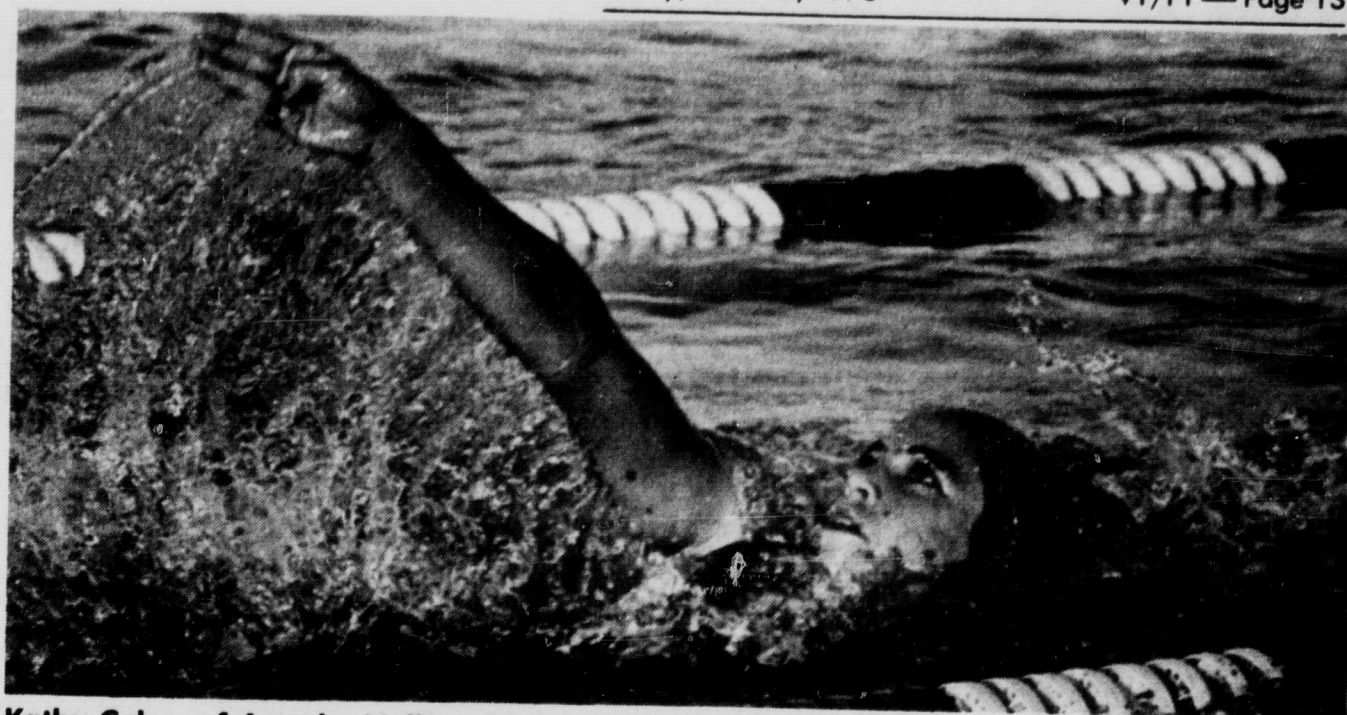

Joining him as early entries for the San Jose classic are Indianapolis - 500 veterans Sheldon Kinser of Bloomington, Ind. and Bruce Walkup of Sullivan, Ind., plus newly - crowned West Coast sprint - car champions Johnny Anderson of Sacramento and Jimmy Oskie of Downey.

Both Kinser and Walkup have driven in two Indianapolis - 500's, but are better known for their sprint - car efforts. Kinser drove for race organizer J. C. Agajanian in this May's 500, finishing 19th when the race was called at 255 miles by rain.

Anderson drove his car to the 1976 Northern Auto Racing Club's sprint - car title, while Oskie wrapped up this third California Racing Assn. sprint - car championship just last Saturday night at Ascot Park in Los Angeles.

They join a talent - laden field which already includes two - time USAC sprint - car king, Duane "Pancho" Carter of Brownsburg, Ind., who is going for a new all - time USAC point record in the sprint division; newly - crowned USAC National Dirt Car title holder Billy Cassella of Wierton, W. Va.; and James McElreath of Arlington, Texas.

Kathy Cohan of Amador Valley, shown here swimming the backstroke, will be one of the top competitors at the East Bay Athletic League girls' swimming championships at California High tomorrow. The meet starts at 9 a.m. San Ramon won the dual-meet title.

Dunbar discusses China trip

them," she explained. "If they hit them and became more consistent, they could be one of the top three teams in the world."

Not surprising, considering that many of China's better athletes enter "sports schools" beginning with the fifth grade. There, they study in the morning and practice their specialty in the afternoons and evenings.

Twice a week, they can participate in a game or activity of their choice and on Sundays, they go home to visit their families.

And, according to Dunbar, those families often extend past the usual array of mothers, fathers, sisters and brothers.

"A child is everyone's child," she said. "If some one sees a child out in the street in trouble, they'll help him or straighten him out."

A white face still startles the Chinese after the years of political isolation.

"The people are friendly, but they're kind of shy," Diane said. "The people kind of stare and check you out — they don't get to see too many Americans."

Communism seems to work for the Chinese, she surmised.

"They almost had to be a communist country," she said. "They have so many people, there would always be people out of jobs or starving.

"But, everybody has a job and is treated equally, well, I suppose some people make more money than others," she pointed out. "The older people looked tired, but they're making a decent living."

Surprisingly, Diane almost didn't make the trip.

Scheduled for 9 mid - August, the junket was delayed twice, first by the tragic earthquakes that destroyed many of China's larger cities and then by the death of Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse - tung. The second delay came the day the American team was at the airport, ready to depart.

"I almost didn't want to go," said Dunbar, recalling the disappointing delays. "I hadn't been doing any routines and you have to be in shape for that kind of competition."

When the American team finally reached the PRC, political upheaval was at its peak. Coincidentally, the US team reached Shanghai right after the conspiracy charges were being leveled at the "Shanghai Four," led by Chiang - Ching, Mao's widow.

"They're were political posters all over the place," said Diane. "They were ugly pictures of the four, with their faces crossed out, a hand reached around their necks to strangle them and some of the women shown as a witch."

Poster politics have been a trademark in China since the 1964 Cultural Revolution, but the gymnasts were nevertheless prohibited from taking photographs of the posters by their Chinese guides.

Printed, of course, in oriental characters, the posters were apparently mass - produced. Lighted at night, they constantly drew gatherings of 50 or more readers.

"While we were in Shanghai, the whole town was so noisy from the demonstrations that it was hard to sleep," Dunbar said. "I woke up one morning and there were thousands and thousands of people marching through the streets."

Happily, the trip to China reignited Dunbar's competitive spark.

Still unsure of her collegiate plans, despite overtures from the University of California, Dunbar is qualified to compete in the US Nationals in March and will strive toward the 1978 World Games.

And another lesson in current events a university would be hard - pressed to provide.

Mr. America ready for big splash

CONCORD — "People say, this guy must be nuts, hanging himself, jumping off a bridge," says Mike Dayton, the reigning Mr. America and muscleman extraordinaire.

But that's exactly what Dayton plans to do. Dayton, who has muscles bulging everywhere but his eyeballs, said research has convinced him he can survive the leap from the Golden Gate Bridge — 212 feet — and the six-foot gallows drop.

"Your neck is really fragile," Dayton, 27, said. "But I've strengthened my neck muscles gradually, first by hanging from a rope, then bouncing up and down, then by jumping off of things. I've already done it from four feet and I'm pretty sure I can go six."

"You have to keep those neck muscles taut as long as you're hanging," he cautioned. "If you let up at all, the noose tightens down, and it'll never slip back."

Dayton was all set to hang himself at a local exhibition, but they rejected the idea, as did the Johnny Carson television show.

He may have trouble with the bridge leap, too, since authorities frown on things like that. But he insists that he can survive the 77-mile-per-hour impact speed if he times the tides properly.

"But it isn't quite so crazy," he claimed. "We've done a lot of research."

He has done all the usual, run-of-the-mill strongman stunts, like blowing up a hot water bottle until it explodes or popping a basketball with his bare hands. But Dayton has tricks he claims no one can duplicate, making him the self-proclaimed strongest man in the world.

For instance, he can burst handcuffs. He expands the muscles of his wrists, his 20-inch arms bulge with the pressure, and the chain snaps.

"The cuffs are built to withstand 1,400 pounds of pressure," Dayton said. "You have to go over that before they'll break." He displayed scars on his wrists from performing the trick. "Nobody else can break handcuffs."

Why do all those things to yourself, Mike? "Because I think I can do it," he said.

Their turn

Those who led the fight against voter approval of that "Valley Pipeline" argued it was the "excessive capacity built in for industry and commerce" which prompted their spirited opposition.

Now we wonder if those same people will come forward with spirited support for the smaller, alternative plan for that outfall line to the Bay.

It was easy to find fault with the original LAVWMA project ... no one really knows what the answer to wastewater discharge will be beyond the year 2000, and certainly any project requiring public funding is an unpopular one these days.

The essence of leadership is to come up with answers that identify with the problem, and then sell that answer to those we would lead. The essence of the "anti growth" movement in recent years has been to reject all proposals, of whatever merit or dimension.

Livermore did not just turn down that Valley Pipeline. The voters rejected, for the second time, a tax override for safety services; the community has a record of rejecting school bonds; the "SAVE" movement gained its greatest margin of support from within the Livermore community.

This is not to say any one of those proposals clearly deserved majority support; it does however suggest a mood of negativism that must make this young, vibrant "nuclear age" community wonder about itself.

There must be a time when we are for something. Our society must produce affirmative ideas, if only to establish we are here, alive, contributing.

Livermore is a community blessed to abundance with young, scientific brains. Surely within that intelligence there is the leadership to grapple with today's needs, to serve today's populace.

It is no longer a question of growth; it is rather a matter of survival. For ourselves, our neighbors. We cannot bespoil the environment simply because "we aren't turned on by that last proposal."

Let those who have always found fault, now find some answers. It's their turn.

But we pay

Whatever else those "smaller pipeline" advocates might be saving us from, it is not from the price we will finally pay for that outfall system.

Expanded to capacity to provide for industrial and commercial growth commensurate with our projected needs, that Valley Pipeline would have cost each of us from $2.74 to $3.45 added to our monthly utility bill.

When one-fifth of that capacity is removed to provide just for the Valley's "EO" population curve, the cost to the local resident is reduced by about one-seventh. So we wind up paying $2.76 or $2.85 per month for a 20-year project that allows for little improvement in our local tax base.

If Councilman Glen Dahlbacka has his way, the outfall line's capacity might be reduced even further. To stifle any chance of growth, we presume ... residential, commercial or industrial. But the price we pay would be lowered only pennies per month.

Whatever merit those "hold down the line size" arguments might offer, it is not a significant savings in the local cost. Other answers, including "recycling of waste waters," promise to cost considerably more than any outfall line, aggravated further by the real possibility of no federal assistance for such dream-age schemes.

And if we opt for no wastewater project at all, then the state is required to step in and force some sort of answer on us, at our expense, but without our vote.

We begin to wonder just what it is the anti pipeline people have saved us from?

SR City foes

Post-election revelations of a $24,000 campaign aimed at defeating that San Ramon Valley incorporation movement come as no real surprise. But it's something of a shocker to learn that one major landowner-developer coughed up $10,000 "at the last minute" in order to sustain that well-organized and successful drive.

State law now requires full disclosure of all political campaign costs, as that money is raised and those expenses are incurred. The idea is to keep voters posted on who is spending what, and from what source. It has been said that "this law will restrain the little guy more than the big spender."

Broadmoor Development Company proves that point by waiting until after the final pre-election period to come up with a whopping $10,000 in anti-city funds. That contribution undoubtedly had a great deal to do with the large turnout of "no on incorporation" voters throughout San Ramon Valley. Whether those voters might have been influenced otherwise had they known one major landowner was underwriting the campaign is another question.

An even more interesting question is whether the "WAIT" forces had already committed that full $24,000 in campaign costs, confident the final $10,000 was forthcoming from one generous supporter with strong anti-incorporation sentiments.

The use of large doses of cash, from whatever source, is never a healthy way to resolve any ballot question. It gets even healthier when the electorate is denied knowledge of the source of such funds until after the balloting is over. That "campaign disclosure law" needs tightening up.

FOCUS/Volunteer Bureau

Matching needs

"A clearinghouse where human needs can be matched with human resources."

Initially developed in the fall of 1974, the Valley Volunteer Bureau is now a month into its second year. While the bureau and its roll is expanding, the vibrancy is necessarily controlled by operational funds.

So the bureau has taken steps to apply for grants like so many other agencies that "operate on a shoe string" but provide a store full of services.

Primary goal of the bureau is to recruit individuals and groups from the community and to match them with the current needs of non-profit agencies or organizations. This function was initially handled by a volunteer coordinator (now paid on an approximate half-time basis) and a rotational volunteer office staff.

The staff has been recently augmented by a grant application writer, Barbara Hemphill.

Other objectives of the agency include consultations to agencies establishing volunteer programs; extensive outreach to utilize the non-traditional volunteer; proposing new programs where there are gaps in service; and coordinating, recruiting and training efforts in community agencies.

The Valley Volunteer Bureau can serve any citizen in the valley, for example, any person(s) wishing to do volunteer work, any of more than 50 non-profit agencies utilizing services of volunteers and any individual in legitimate need of a volunteer's services.

Persons volunteering their services have been matched with three dozen or more groups (4-H, Blue Birds, convalescent homes). The bureau had a successful project placing youth in service agencies, have sponsored a community volunteer forum with Chabot College, have solicited many campership donations for low-income children and have been involved in a visitation to volunteer programs in the valley.

The bureau has some ambitious future goals involving further outreach to bring community people into the volunteer scene, establishing a court referral program, coordinating Christmas and holiday giving, and establishing a youth referral program and developing training and recruiting seminars for volunteer coordinators in community agencies.

Hundreds if not thousands of valley women are no doubt aware of the Valley Volunteer Bureau through its boutique held at Shannon Park Community Center.

Having had a very small part in the one held Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, I can attest to the popularity of the event. Mrs. Stallings, Marty Wadekammer, Kay Honodel, Nancy Cotton and Fran Williams, among others, can be proud of this well-organized and beautifully-conducted boutique and luncheon.

The success of the annual boutique is a big lift to an agency that seems certain to provide greater and vital service to Pleasanton, Livermore, Dublin, Sunol and San Ramon.

There is this professor type who made an in-depth study of America's tv viewing patterns.

More precisely, he is looking at "the extent to which the television viewer identifies with the story or its characters."

Everybody knows that the teeny bopper gets ideas for new mayhem from those "family hour" cops and robbers shows. Fact that the hero is a good guy in a blue uniform doesn't change the impact on tender minds ... "Zap! Zap!" And Lt. "Dirty Harry" Eastwood cuts down a few more badniks. Bathed in blood.

This latest study is not concerned with violence, children, that sort of thing. Now they're worried about adults. The tender parental mind is also susceptible to electronic persuasion. Or so it seems.

Personally, I think our professor is off his rocker. I mean, who ever heard of a mature, intelligent individual identifying with the brawny bully on the tube! Oh sure, I admit to having a little crush on Tarzan, Captain Midnight and the Lone Ranger. But that was way back when.

Now that I am fully seasoned and content with life, such "hero worship" has no place in my adult world. I watch television and the movies for entertainment, pure and simple. Take "Gone With The Wind" for instance.

Like all good Americans, we stuck with GWTW's debut on the tube ... three hours Sunday and two hours Monday. (Actually, I flicked the tube back and forth to other shows during commercials and GWTW dull spots. Drives the lady of the house right up the wall.)

"Must you keep switching channels like that?" she asks. "It's very distracting ..."

"I am a man of the world and must keep myself informed on all the latest news, and tv shows," I replied, firmly. "You knew that when I married you." The firmness of my voice surprised me, as I switched back to channel 4 and Clark Gable's latest tirade levelled at poor Vivien Leigh.

"I think the way he treated her was simply terrible," says the lady from the choice chair in the front of the tube. "No woman would tolerate that today."

"More women need a firm hand to guide them," says I, stoutly. "Most are spoiled silly, completely selfish and without a real thought for anyone but themselves!"

"Well!" she starts to respond, but I have taken advantage of the commercial break to get myself a straight shot of something.

"I've never known you to drink after dinner," she says, with just a touch of awe.

"There are many things you don't know about me," I reply, icily. "I just may get very drunk tonight, for reasons that now escape me."

By this time Clark is carrying Vivien up the stairs, for reasons that become all too clear.

"Why do you keep looking at me like that?" asks lady in red leather chair. "I'm trying to watch the show and you're acting very strange."

"I'm acting any way I damned well please," I reply. "And after I have another brandy or three, I just may exercise my husbandly rights."

The show's pace quickens. My own thoughts are racing along at a pretty good clip too. I had forgotten how potent just one brandy after dinner could be.

"Where are you going now?" she asks, meekly. "I am going to London ... I mean, to the bathroom. But what business is it of your's anyway?"

She is so thoroughly subdued by this time that she can do little more than pant, expectantly. I polish off the last of the brandy and turn to her, menacingly. My breathing is heavy. My intentions brutally clear.

"Why are you picking me up?" she demands, tremulously. "I've never seen you act like this before..."

OUCH! The pain hit me right between the fourth and fifth vertebrae.

"What's the matter?" asks wifely voice from deep red leather chair. "I think you dozed off during the show and you must have hurt your back again. Are you all right?"

I am in pain. I am mortified. Worse, I am wide awake, and dead sober.

"You shouldn't slouch down in the couch that way when you're watching television," she cautions me.

"Frankly woman," I says, "I don't give a damn!" But not so loud that she could really hear me. No sense in starting a squabble over a silly tv show.

Letters to the Times

BART's Bob

Editor, The Times:

My humble thanks to you and others who helped me gain a 4-year term on the BART Board. I pray that I may be worthy of the trust bestowed by over 45,000 voters — far more than any other BART candidate has won in either election since the board became elective.

That a low-budget campaign which couldn't afford signs, brochures, or mailers could do so well against a well-funded and organized opposition is most remarkable.

BART appears to have turned the corner. Gone, hopefully, is the corrupt political cronyism of the past two years. We can now turn to running a first-class transit system. I solicit your continued interest and counsel.

Robert S. Allen

Education first

Editor, The Times:

I, as a parent, taxpayer and concerned citizen, would like to openly thank the board members, administrators and teachers who put in such long, trying and tiring hours this past weekend. Through their efforts a contract has been reached and a strike is no longer a threat to the Murray School District.

I only hope that now everyone can put any and all hard feelings behind them. Only when this is done, can we unite as one (board, administration, teachers, and parents), with one purpose: Education. Hopefully, now this will be the 1st. thought in everyone's mind, the best education for all our children in the Murray School District.

Liz Tirnetta

PJFL coverage

Editor, The Times:

On Nov. 6 at Amador High 40 mothers, 4 coaches, men cheerleaders and many supporters turned out for a fund raiser for PJFL. Where was our local newspaper? Tom Janis of Channel 7 broadcast our game, helping make it a success complete with TV coverage on 3 separate occasions and The Oakland Tribune covered the event, with pictures, in their Nov. 9 paper.

PJFL obviously does not rank among Mardi Gras, The Art Guild, Woman of the Year or our Parades, but don't you think it's time for these boys? The Times has let PJFL down so many times while these kids are giving their all to learn sportsmanship and football skill — little encouragement for their future isn't asking too much. After all, doesn't everyone get excited over the High School games? Where do you think some of those boys got their "know-how"? Channel 2 gave the boys TV coverage on PJFL Day — where was The Times?

If mothers can submit their aging bodies to earn money for boys who love football and want PJFL to continue ... then I don't think it is asking too much for The Times to start giving PJFL more than a "postage size" article. PJFL needs P-Town support. How about it? If Pleasanton is to be known as The Parade Capital and the Soccer Capitol, can't you find room for future football "hopeful"?

Joanne Carver

Teacher concerned

Editor, The Times:

I am physically tired and emotionally despondent over the situation which confronts teachers in the Amador Valley High School District.

Since last spring much time and effort that should have been devoted to educating the valley's youth has been diverted to endless haggling, debating, and divisiveness. While the school board delays, needlessly, the implementation of State Law No. SB 160, matters that concern students and their parents have been pushed aside. The district spends money for a high-priced lawyer ... while class size goes far beyond what is generally recommended, funds for educational field trips are drastically curtailed, and students must bring their own towels or skip showers after P.E. exercise.

Amador High School district had a reputation for quality education, harmonious teacher-administration-board relations, and a citizenry that went out of its way to support the schools and their children's education. Many of our newer citizens moved to our valley to take advantage of our good schools for their children.

I ... feel this situation will erode if acrimony and tension continue to build. There is a real danger of splitting into two camps, and into the syndrome of the "them" versus "us" thinking. Inevitably, if this happens, it will be the students who suffer. It is to our credit that the teachers have continued giving quality education in spite of the ever-increasing difficulties and pressures. It is past time for the school board and the district office administration to take a personal interest in the negotiations, or to direct their hired lawyer to work toward a fair contract, acceptable to both sides.

Big Game

The Times may be guilty of illegal procedure in its devotion to the football game Saturday between Granada and Livermore high schools.

But it is rare when one community can boast that a varsity sports championship will be settled entirely within its city limits.

That's why the contest has drawn mention in no less than three departments of today's edition. That's why The Times will dispatch three writers and a photographer to Granada tomorrow afternoon.

Victory for either team will produce an East Bay Athletic League football championship. Along with it goes a berth in post-season playoff competition.

All Livermore should be buzzing about the game. That's why we've devoted so much attention to it.

The outcome will splash across the front pages on Sunday and be recounted in the sports section. Next Tuesday a whole page will be devoted to a pictorial instant replay.

That's how much we think of it.

There are well meaning critics who decry over-emphasis of a schoolboy game. The teams playing Saturday have enough to consider without the pressure of a glossy advance buildup. Some suggest that we take our reporters' notebooks and put them where the moon don't shine.

But we'll be there, in legions, because we think tomorrow's game symbolizes the best of public education. Here's hoping that the spirit of competition and camaraderie will be heightened in those two frenetic hours beginning at 1 p.m.

But now for the disclaimer.

The outcome of tomorrow's football game merely determines what team, and what school can muster a superiority of talent and spirit for an afternoon.

If it's as close as we suspect, there may not be enough evidence to argue for either side.

The final score is not testimonial to a way of life, the tufold system of scheduling, or agricultural education. Read more into it and you deserve a punch in the nose from Woody Hayes.

Over zealous fans who anticipate tomorrow's game with religious fervor can spoil it for the rest of us.

Our staff will be there to have fun. That should be everyone's motivation.

Two good football teams take the field tomorrow — so good we can't forecast the outcome. We will anticipate, however, a magnanimous winner and a courageous loser. That goes for everyone in the stands, too.

If Granada wins the game, its team earns a second consecutive EBAL football championship. It will also go to the playoffs for a second straight year.

Should Livermore win, the two clubs will boast identical league records, and tie for the championship. Livermore will earn the playoff spot, however, by virtue of its victory against Granada.

There is one other alternative we can hope for. A berth in the playoffs is available for a "wild card" team. Hopefully the selectors will look at tomorrow's loser, consider its fine record over a long season, and extend an invitation.

Who knows? Livermore and Granada could meet again two weeks from tonight. If they do, we'll all be there.

Foothill liked Lilly

Editor, The Times:

The Executive Council of Foothill High School would like to extend our thanks to Mrs. Lilly Ault, and wish her, as well as her family, the very best of luck and happiness in their new home.

Mrs. Ault has been one of the very few adults to really listen when students spoke up, and to treat us as young adults rather than children. Whether she was in agreement with us or not, at least she tried to understand. She did her very best to bring our problems and questions to the attention of the community. And thanks to those efforts, we are now well on our way to finding some solutions and some answers.

In closing, we would once again like to thank her for all of her active interest and support, and tell her how very sorry we are to see her go.

Thank you,
Foothill High School
